VOL. VIII.....NO. 2355. NEW-YORK, THURSDAY, APRIL 7, 1859. PRICE TWO CENTS.

THE SICKLES TRAGEDY.

Trial of Daniel E. Sickles for the Murder of Philip Barton Key.

THIRD DAY'S PROCEEDINGS.

A FULL JURY OBTAINED AT LAST.

Interesting Discussion of the Property Qualification Question.

PECULIARITIES OF THE TRIAL.

Special Dispatch to the New-York Times.

WASHINGTON, Wednesday, April 6—2 P. M.

Forty-six talesmen have already been called to-day, and three additional Jurors taken, making eleven in all. Only one more is needed. It is believed the Jury will be chosen to-day.

The current of feeling is all with the accused. The defence is making every effort to get a Jury.

The twelfth juror is on the stand, and is otherwise qualified, but the District-Attorney applies the property qualification.

The defense takes issue, and a lengthy discussion is likely to follow. The defence shows the test to be under the Colonial Act of Maryland of 1777, and also shows that an Act of 1840 prescribes a code of procedure, securing to each man the right to select a Jury according to the laws of the State of which he is a citizen.

This is the first time the test has been applied in this Court for many years; if, indeed, it has been ever before done.

The Court takes a recess to consider the point.

Q.

[FROM THE REPORTER FOR THE ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

WASHINGTON, Wednesday, April 6.

It is confidently expected that the Jury will be completed to-day. The talesmen are summoned from the rural portion of the district.

The proceedings of yesterday are indicative of public sentiment in this city. Seventy-one out of seventy-four persons had opinions so fixed and decided that they would not trust themselves to act impartially. Where questions were asked, it appeared that these opinions were not as to the killing, but as to justification. The defence would not have challenged any of these jurors.

The prisoner's father, father-in-law, and many New-York friends are in the Court to-day, evincing their sympathy. Among them is Mr. Maclay, M. C. The body of the Court-room is crowded, and deep interest is manifested in the proceedings.

The Court being opened at a quarter past ten o'clock, the names of the eight jurors already sworn were called, and all answered.

The prisoner was in the box, looking calm and self-possessed.

The Clerk proceeded to call the talesmen.

Robert M. Coombs had both formed and expressed an opinion in regard to the guilt or innocence of the accused.

To Mr. Phillips—The opinion has been formed from what I have heard and read; have never conversed with the witnesses for the prosecution.

District Attorney—That is as far as you know.

Juror—Certainly.

District Attorney—I should think so, for no one knows who are to be witnesses.

Juror—I do not think there could be any evidence produced to change my opinion. My mind is fully made up.

The Judge—I suppose so. You may retire.

Charles W. Havens had formed and expressed an opinion as to the guilt or innocence of the accused.

To Mr. Phillips—My opinion is formed on mere rumor; do not know that I could discharge my duties as a fair juror; my mind is made up on the matter. Disqualified.

George W. Hinton had formed an opinion so fixed that he thinks he could not render a fair verdict. Disqualified.

Wm. H. Arnold thinks he had formed an opinion; felt a strong sympathy in the case, and feels that he has expressed an opinion; feels himself unqualified as an impartial juror.

The Judge—I should think so, after your declaration of sympathy. Retire.

George M. Goodall has formed a decided opinion.

Mr. Phillips—On what has this opinion been founded.

The District Attorney submitted that, after the answer of the juror, further examination was unnecessary.

Mr. Phillips thought the formation of an opinion amounted to nothing, if the opinion was founded on mere rumor. If the witness could sit as an impartial juror, the formation of an opinion would not disqualify him; if every man is to be excluded because he has formed an opinion on mere rumor, they would never get a jury. A man who had formed an opinion, but could still sit as an impartial juror, is as qualified as if he had never heard of the case at all. The prosecution, by preventing further question, would thwart the course of justice. The Judge himself had formed an opinion more or less decided, but the question is, "Are you an impartial Judge? Can you sit as an impartial juror?" There is no principle of law, and certainly none of common sense, which excludes a juror because he has formed an opinion on mere rumor, if, notwithstanding that opinion, he thinks he can give a fair and just verdict.

Judge—The opinion of a juror may be weak or strong. If a juror answers that he can try the case with impartiality, he may be sworn as several of the jurors have so answered—but where a juror answers that he has formed a decided opinion he is certainly disqualified. This juror has formed a decided opinion, and is therefore disqualified.

Mr. Stanton—Will the Court decide that the prisoner has no right to question the juror as to the ground of his opinion?

Judge—Oh, certainly not.

Mr. Stanton—The counsel for the prisoner propose to ask the juror on what his opinion is founded, and the prosecuting attorney objects that counsel be permitted to make such inquiry. This was a denial of justice to the prisoner.

Judge—I think the counsel should make no complaint in this case—there has been no withholding of proper privilege or right from the prisoner.

Mr. Chilton disclaimed intending to insinuate that there had been unfair ruling against the prisoner. The Judge thought the argument of the point unnecessary. Where the juror says he has formed a decided opinion, he is disqualified and further inquiry needless. Juror to Mr. Phillips said he had formed a decided opinion, it was formed on the knowledge obtained from the witnesses. Disqualified.

Mr. Stanton explained that the defence merely wanted to know what the jurors meant by saying they had formed decided opinions.

The Judge repeated what he had said before as to the incompetency of the juror who says he had formed a decided opinion.

Adam Grinder called. Had formed and expressed an opinion at different times.

Thomas Parker had formed and expressed an opinion, and if sworn as a juror could not discharge his duty impartially.

Thomas E. Young and James W. Coombes answered similarly.

The above-mentioned were disqualified. Hiram H. King had not formed or expressed an opinion, had no influence on his mind which would prejudice his verdict, he had no bias or prejudice, and had conscientious scruples in regard to capital punishment. Challenged peremptorily by Mr. Ratcliffe.

William G. Deale had formed and expressed an opinion on rumor and newspaper statements, and in reply to a question said he would try to render an impartial verdict, but he would rather not trust himself, and did not know how far his prejudice might influence him. Mr. Phillips considered him competent as a juror, but the Court thought his answer amounted to disqualification.

Jesse B. Wilson does not know that he has expressed an opinion as to the guilt or innocence of the accused. He had had various opinions, but had not made up his mind. Had no bias or prejudice.

The Judge thought the juror qualified.

The Juror—Have no conscientious scruples as to capital punishment, and am worth over $800, but should be glad to be excused.

Mr. Wilson was sworn as the ninth juror. He resides in Washington City. Business, grocer.

John A. Rupp has formed an opinion.

To Mr. Phillips—The opinion was founded on rumor. It was in reference both to the cause of the killing and the act. Thinks he is prejudiced, and could not render a fair verdict. Disqualified.

John E. Leach had formed and expressed an opinion. Disqualified.

James Nokes had an opinion, and had expressed a great deal of sympathy to both parties. There was no impression on his mind to influence his conduct as a juror. Had no bias or prejudice on either side. Had no conscientious scruples about capital punishment. Should think he was worth over $800.

Mr. Chilton desired to know how far the case comes within the rule made by the Court, as to expression of sympathy. Sympathy on both sides was very indefinite. There may be a preponderance on either.

Judge—Sympathy on one side amounts to a disqualification. Sympathy on both sides, with general regret at the occurrence, does not.

Mr. Chilton—Then the Court strikes a balance. That is what we want to know. Challenged peremptorily.

John McDermott had read the principal portion of the testimony at the Coroner's inquest, and had a vague, indefinite impression on his mind; as to what effect they would have on him as a juror, he could not answer.

Question—If sworn as a juror would you discharge your duty impartially?

Juror—I should endeavor to do so, but would rather not take the responsibility.

To Judge—Has a vague impression, which he could not dignify by the title of opinion. Can not answer as to what effect his impressions might have on him, or whether or to what extent his mind is biased.

The Judge thought the answer amounted to a non-formation of opinion. Thinks him qualified.

Sworn as the tenth juror.

Leonidas Coyle had both formed and expressed opinion. Disqualified.

Andrew J. Duval, James A. Tucker and Francis Mattingly, had formed and expressed opinions. Disqualified.

Wm. H. Stanford had not formed an opinion; has no bias or prejudices; has conscientious scruples against the law of capital punishment. Disqualified.

Michael Green had formed an opinion.

To Mr. Phillips—An opinion founded on rumor, but if sworn as a juror would go according to the evidence; but had expressed his opinion publicly and above board, that—

District-Attorney—Never mind what it was; if sworn on the Jury, would you render a verdict according to law and the evidence?

Juror—I would.

District-Attorney—Have you any bias for, or against the prisoner?

Juror—Well, I am for the prisoner as far as I have heard. [Laughter.]

The District-Attorney submitted that the juror was not qualified. Mr. Phillips argued that he was, the juror had answered that he could discharge his duty impartially. Mr. Brady said this was the first time he had taken any part in the discussion as to the impannelment of the Jury, and addressed his Honor now because the Court might have understood the answer of the juror different from the manner which the counsel for the defence understood it. He said he was for the prisoner so far as he had heard. He hoped there would be no misconstruction of the effect of his answer. He would suggest to the Court to ask whether it was not on what he had heard and read that he had formed an opinion, and whether that was not of a temporary or fleeting character. The juror had not said that it was upon any evidence he had formed an opinion. An opinion, to disqualify a juror, must be in reference to the guilt or innocence of the accused. This juror says he would render a verdict according to the law and the evidence, and he would not ask a juror to form a verdict in any other way. He hoped the Judge would ask the juror what he meant by saying that he was for the prisoner.

The District-Attorney submitted that the juror declared he had a bias for the prisoner. It does not follow that that bias is temporary or fleeting, as has been suggested. It may be fixed. The prosecution had here two difficulties to overcome, first the formation and expression of opinion, and, second, the bias in favor of the prisoner. The Court had already held jurors disqualified for having declared they had sympathy for the prisoner. Here was something stronger, a fixed opinion and a bias. He therefore imagined that this juror was not competent to sit as a juror.

Mr. Graham, for the defence, submitted that every prisoner is held to be innocent till proved guilty, and each juror should enter the box with an impression in favor of his innocence. The Judge should have the same impression. Till the accused was proved to be guilty, they should indulge the presumption that he is innocent. All prosecutions affecting life and all affecting liberty ought to be in favore libertatis, to be in favore vitæ. He asked that the jurors should be allowed to entertain the legal presumption that the prisoner is innocent. The first effort of the prosecution must be to overcome that presumption. The law was in favor of it, and the juror, who held the presumption, was entitled to take his seat in the jury-box.

Mr. Carlisle, for the prosecution, submitted, that the juror was not stating this as a legal presumption, but had said in substance that, as the case now stands, he is for the prisoner. It would take marvelous ingenuity to confound that with a theory about legal presumption of innocence.

Mr. Brady, for the defence, only wanted to know what construction the Court placed on the juror's last answer, that he was for the prisoner. Never was a man called to sit on a jury in any criminal case demanding sympathy who did not, as he looked on the prisoner, get an impression as to his guilt or innocence. There was no such thing in nature as a marble statue moving to the Clerk's desk and taking an oath to render a verdict according to evidence. Take the case of an old man, who had committed an act which might seem to be in some points natural, but which is yet against the law, all jurors, young or old, would feel this impulse stirring within them that unless the law prohibited such a result, that old man should not be sent to prison, or sent down in sorrow to the grave, and yet these men would discharge their duty conscientiously whatever consequence might befall the case. Here is nothing of that kind. I am perfectly willing to trust it to your Honor to satisfy yourself by inquiry from this juror, who is certainly an intelligent and upright man, as to what he means by saying he is for the prisoner, whether that relates to judgment on the case itself, which would control or affect his verdict, or whether it is not some general impression, fleeting and faint on something which the testimony would remove. I think your Honor will say that it is not an unfair or improper request to make.

Mr. Carlisle, for the prosecution, understood his Honor to decide yesterday, in a case where a juror had formed and expressed an opinion and felt some sympathy for the accused, but thought he could render an impartial verdict, that he was incompetent, because he had formed, temporarily at least, certain conclusions, and was influenced by certain sympathies. If these sympathies were against the prisoner, he would be obliged to overcome them before he could reach the mind of the juror, and so if his sympathies were in favor of the prisoner, the prosecution would have to overcome them. He thought he did not misunderstand the Court.

The Judge—No, Sir.

Mr. Carlisle—I think that that decision of yesterday governs this question.

The Judge—The answer of the juror to the question first propounded by the counsel for the defence, was that he could render an impartial verdict on the evidence and law, but the effect of the answer has been removed by the statement that he is for the prisoner. If that is not a disqualification, I confess I cannot see any cause that would be. In deciding on this question, I do not think the nice distinctions attempted to be made should apply at all.

Mr. Magruder, for the defence, asked: Whether he would not be permitted to ask the juror if his opinion was not hypothetical?

The Judge—The juror has already stated that it is made up on what he has heard and read.

Mr. Magruder argued that the juror was not disqualified. The juror had said he had a bias in favor of the prisoner from what he had read. If that be true, might they not ask him, whether, from that present state of his mind, he could not sit as a competent juror?

The Judge thought it unnecessary to ask further question. He was disqualified. Exception taken.

J. W. Angus had formed and expressed an opinion.

To Mr. Phillips—The opinion is founded on the newspaper reports.

Question—If the evidence given on trial is different from what rumor has indicated, could you render a fair verdict between the Government and the accused?

Juror—I could.

To Mr. Stanton—Could find a verdict on the law and evidence. His impression was in favor of the prisoner altogether.

Mr. Carlisle held the juror incompetent.

Mr. Phillips stood up to argue the point.

The Judge thought argument was unnecessary. The ruling on the last case governed this. The juror was disqualified.

Exception taken.

Elijah Edmonston had expressed an opinion, and if sworn as a juror would acquit the prisoner. [Laughter.] Disqualified.

Charles H. Wiltberger had not formed or expressed an opinion. Had no prejudice or bias. Had no conscientious scruples against capital punishment, and if the prisoner was guilty he would hang him high as Haman. Peremptorily challenged.

A. Lammond had formed and expressed an opinion fully and freely in favor of the prisoner. Disqualified.

Theo. Mosher had formed and expressed an opinion merely from rumor, but would try to render an impartial verdict.

Mr. Stanton asked him whether he could find a verdict on the evidence?

Mr. Mosher remarked that his sympathies were in favor of the prisoner.

Counsel for the prisoner desired to know the nature of this sympathy, and wished to propound further questions, but the Court said that a mere leaning or sympathy amounted to disqualification.

George F. Varnell and William H. Marlow had formed and expressed opinions. Disqualified.

John G. Robinson had formed an opinion, but did not think it would influence his conduct as a juror; had no bias or prejudice; he had nothing to do with the question of capital punishment. Peremptorily challenged.

William Hughes had no prejudice or bias; there was nothing to prevent him from rendering an impartial verdict; if a man was guilty he had no objection to capital punishment. Peremptorily challenged.

Joseph Davis, James Skirving, Benjamin S. Kinsey, Alexander Forrest, John Pettibone, Alexander Bally, Thomas E. Baden, John P. Davis and Zadock Williams were severally sworn, but having formed and expressed opinions, and some of them having said they could not render an impartial verdict, they were pronounced disqualified.

William Uttermuhl had formed and expressed opinions. Disqualified.

Wm. M. Moore had formed and expressed an opinion.

To Mr. Phillips—His opinion was founded on what he had read.

Question—If sworn as a juror would you render a verdict according to the law and evidence? Answer—I see nothing to prevent it.

To the Court—Have had impressions. Thinks they would not affect his judgment. Thinks he has a bias or prejudice.

To Mr. Stanton—Thinks his bias would not affect his judgment on the evidence.

The Judge thought the juror qualified.

To the District-Attorney—Thinks he has no conscientious scruples about capital punishment, but could decide according to the law and evidence.

Mr. Moore was sworn as the eleventh juror. He resides in Washington. Business, grocer.

Hugh Seddy and Thomas J. Magruder had formed opinions, and were disqualified.

William M. Venable had formed an opinion.

To Mr. Phillips—Opinion founded on rumor. Thinks he could not act as an impartial juror. Thinks no evidence could change his mind. Disqualified.

Samuel Pumphrey had formed an opinion.

To Mr. Phillips—The opinion was founded on rumor; was afraid to trust himself to give an impartial verdict. Disqualified.

James B. Greenwell had formed and expressed an opinion. Disqualified.

Robert Cohen had not formed or expressed an opinion. Has no impression, bias or prejudice, and no conscientious scruples. Challenged peremptorily.

James L. Barber had frequently expressed an opinion. Disqualified.

James L. Topham had formed an opinion. Disqualified.

The Judge here remarked that the Marshal had summoned 76 instead of 75. He supposed there was no objection.

Mr. Brady—No objection on our part. The number suggests patriotic ideas.

Thos. C. Wheeler had formed an opinion; has sympathies in behalf of the prisoner, and thinks no evidence could change them.

Mr. Brady—That clearly falls within your Honor's rule. [Laughter.]

W. H. Baum had formed and expressed an opinion. Disqualified.

Wm. H. Upperman and J. F. B. Purcell had formed and expressed an opinion. Disqualified.

Hiram Ritchey had expressed an opinion as to what the result of the trial would be.

To Mr. Phillips—He could not form an opinion of guilt or innocence till he heard the evidence; if sworn as a juror I have always thought that I could discharge my duty impartially, and think I could do so now.

To the District Attorney—He has sympathies for the prisoner and for all men.

Q.—Have you any sympathy growing out of what you believe of the circumstances of the case? A.—I have sympathy for any person who is similarly situated; both parties stand the same to me; I have no bias for or against the prisoner, but have freely expressed my opinion as to the result of the trial.

Question—Did you say what would be or what ought to be the result?

Juror—I said what ought to be.

The Judge thought that amounted to a disqualification.

To Mr. Phillips—That opinion was predicated on what I understood from rumor to be the facts.

To Mr. Brady—If the facts are different from what I understood them to be I could render a fair verdict.

District-Attorney—If the law should be different from what you suppose it to be, could you render a fair verdict in accordance with that law?

Juror—Certainly.

The Judge thought that when a Juror had said a verdict ought to be in a particular way, it amounted to a disqualification.

Mr. Stanton argued that on all the answers, taken together, the juror was qualified. Could there be a man better qualified to act as a juror?

Judge—I think so, very easily. [Laughter.] Disqualified.

Exception taken.

Stephen Coster and John R. Mitchell had formed opinions. Disqualified.

Harmon Burns had formed an opinion.

To Mr. Phillips—Does not think himself competent to set as a juror.

Mr. Stanton—Why not?

Juror—My opinion is so fixed that I do not think I could. Disqualified.

John Miller and Reuben had formed opinions. Disqualified.

Franklin Turney had formed an opinion.

To Mr. Phillips—The opinion is founded on rumor; should not like to sit as a juror, being opposed to capital punishment. Disqualified.

J. P. Bartholomew had formed an opinion. Disqualified.

Daniel B. Clarke had a fixed opinion on all such cases. He had formed his opinion in this case on rumor. He did not know whether he could render an impartial verdict. If to justify the act would make him an impartial juror he could be one.

District-Attorney—I suppose that falls within your honor's ruling [Laughter.]

The juror was disqualified.

Jeremiah Hepburn had formed an opinion and was disqualified.

Wm. Cooper had not formed an opinion; had no bias or prejudice, and no conscientious scruples. Qualified and challenged peremptorily.

The Judge here suggested that as the Marshal had summoned seventy-six men, he had better not call the last one.

Mr. Phillips said the counsel for the defence had consented.

The Judge understood that, but in view of the practice in New-York, he thought it the safest plan not to call the last man.

Mr. Phillips hoped that the practice of New-York was not to be imitated here.

Mr. Graham said the case in New-York referred to the constitution of the jury.

The Judge directed the Clerk not to call the last man in the box.

Joseph S. Wright had formed an opinion.

To Mr. Phillips—The opinion was not entirely formed on rumor or newspaper statements. He had never conversed with any of the witnesses. He could discharge his obligations as a juror if sworn on the jury.

To the Judge—He had no impression, bias or prejudice.

To the District Attorney—He could give an impartial verdict, according to the law and evidence. He had no conscientious scruples about capital punishment.

Q.—Have you property to the amount of $800?

Juror—I do not know as to being worth $800.

Mr. Stanton objected to the question as to property qualification put by the District-Attorney. He did not think the lack of property any objection in the District to a juror. When the question was first made in this cause the counsel for the defence were taken by surprise. They were aware that the statute of Maryland, in its colonial condition, did impose a property qualification, but were not aware that the United States had ever made an objection to a juror on this ground, which is so dishonorable to principles on which the Government rests. The District-Attorney had never made that objection in other criminal cases, and the counsel for the defence supposed it would not be made here. This objection was made under the act of the Assembly of the Colony of Maryland, passed in October, 1777. Prior to that time, under the Government of Great Britain the qualifications of a juror had been made both as to the amount and quality of his estate. Freehold property to a particular value was required, but, as early as 1777, ideas had progressed so far, that the absurdity of requiring a freehold qualification was abolished. Nevertheless, there was still required a certain property qualification. He need not trace the origin of that idea. He did not know that there was a single State of the Union which required this property qualification for jurors. He asked the District-Attorney whether a property qualification was required now in the State of Maryland.

District-Attorney—I do not know whether there is or not.

Mr. Stanton—The prisoner is arraigned under the laws of the United States, and unless the jurisdiction and sovereignty of the United States imposes a property qualification on jurors no such qualification can be imposed. The only requirement is that they be free and impartial triers. The acts affecting the question will be found under General Act, G., Sept. 24, 1789, which declares, that in cases punishable with death the trial shall be had in the county, or where not so had, that twelve petit jurors shall be summoned thence and shall be drawn by lot or otherwise, in each State, according to the mode of forming juries therein. The law simply indicates the designation of jurors, and provides that they shall have the same qualifications as required for juries by the laws of the States. That was all the qualification which Congress imposed on jurors. Is this a State? Are we now a portion of the State of Maryland and have we imposed on us the laws of 1777? By no means. This Territory belongs to the United States, and the jurisdiction of the United States alone dwells here. On the organization of this District it was provided that the laws of Virginia, as then existed, should be extended to that portion of the District ceded to the United States, and so with regard to that portion ceded by Maryland, but this applied to civil not to criminal procedure. The act of July 20, 1840, amended the act of 1800, which provided that jurors, to serve in Courts of the United States should, in conformity with the practice in the State or District, be designated by lot or otherwise. Its operation was to give validity to the practice then prevailing. The act of 1840 provided that jurors, to serve in Courts of the United States, in each State, should have such qualifications as are required of jurors to serve in the highest State Courts. He argued that Congress, having provided the mode for designating jurors, and having imposed no property qualification, there is no warrant at all for a property qualification within this District. The reason of making that law conform to the State law was, that there might not be two modes of procedure. It was to harmonize the practice. There is no warrant under the act of Congress which makes the act of the Assembly of the Colony of Maryland in 1777 law in the District of Columbia at this day. Counsel felt a strong belief as to the right of the prisoner to be tried by twelve men, without regard to property qualifications. The act of the General Assembly of Maryland, of 1801, reduces the qualification of jurors, and enacts that jurors may be summoned of the wisest and experience, having $300 worth of property, and that no challenge shall be allowed against any juror for want of such qualification. The direction was to the Sheriff. But the want of a freehold should not be in itself any cause of challenge. The act was simply directory, and indicated to the Sheriff merely that he should have wise and discreet men as jurors. The property qualification required was to be in the State of Maryland. Would his Honor say, in this case, whether the property should be there or in the District of Columbia? If the Court took the law, it must take the whole law. The law being inapplicable no such qualification can be imposed, and certainly it ought not to be applied in a case which appeals to the heart of every man, but least of all, perhaps, to that man who has no other possession than a pure, honest heart. I submit that the Judge can find no warrant to impose the property qualification in this case. It was a mere technicality contrary to the spirit of the age. If the practice is not warranted by the sovereignty of the United States it could not be imposed on this prisoner.

The District-Attorney replied. He would not discuss the propriety of the law. The question to be determined is, what is the law? Not whether good or bad, wise or foolish, but what says the statute? He imagined that his Honor would not go behind a law, to inquire into its propriety, no matter how repulsive to his Honor's feelings. As to its practice, he would admit he had not previously insisted on the law, but it was because, he would frankly confess, he was not aware of the existence of the law at that time. This rule was frequently practiced here, and resorted to in many cases where his colleague (Mr. Carlisle) had been counsel. The deviations were rather exceptions than otherwise. It was resorted to in the case of Edwards, and it was the practice of the late District-Attorney and his predecessors to enforce the law. Previous to the year 1777 the law of Maryland required a freehold qualification, but at that time the freehold qualification was dispensed with, as far as the Provincial Court was concerned. The law of October, 1777, extended the provisions of the existing law, and applied them to the County Courts, making $800 worth of property necessary for the qualification of a juror. The gentleman says this is an old statute of one hundred years ago. It may be better or worse for that. It was instituted about the time of the Declaration of Independence, when it might be supposed our fathers knew what was in accordance with the rights of man. In 1801 Congress applied to the District of Columbia the laws of Maryland then in force. Did not that constitute them laws of the United States and not of Maryland? It was precisely as if Congress had taken up these laws and enacted them "ipsissimis verbis." This then was a statute of the United States, prescribing the qualification of jurors—and being so, it was the law of the land and the law of this case. It was sufficient for him that the public prosecutor should know it was the law, and stand upon it because it was the law. He knew of nothing that would justify him in departing from that rule. But, say the gentlemen on the other side, if Maryland sees fit to change her laws after being adopted by the United States, a corresponding change should be effected here; that we should look not to Congress, but to the Legislature of Maryland for the laws to govern us. The argument carried an absurdity on its face. The gentleman argued that the law required property to be held in the State of Maryland, and not in the District of Columbia, and that though the law was adopted here it does not apply to the District. All the Statutes of Maryland that extended over the District used the phrase "in this State," and yet it had always been held that that phrase applied equally to this District. How were they entitled in this District to the benefits of common law? Solely through their connection with the State of Maryland, not through their connection with the United States. If it was not through the State of Maryland they had no common law at all, and the prisoner had better be discharged at once. The very authority cited by the other side, the act of Congress of 1789, settled this question. It settled the qualification of jurors, and declared that the provisions of the common law, as modified by the Statutes of Maryland, should continue to be the rule of law in regard to jurors in the District of Columbia.

Mr. Stanton—We have it then declared by a gentleman who has been practicing law here for fifteen years, who is the District-Attorney of the District of Columbia, and whose appointment has been ratified by the Senate, that he did not know that the property qualification was necessary. If that is so, where has this law been? Buried for one hundred years, and dug up for the prosecution of Daniel E. Sickles! Who brought it to his notice? He says his colleague had tried a case in which he had seen the rule enforced. Then if he had not been so associated, Mr. Sickles would have been tried by a man with a heart in his breast, not with money in his pocket. The practice of the Court is the law of the Court, and if it lay so deeply hidden that a man practicing in it fifteen years did not know there was such a law till he had to arraign Mr. Sickles, it is not the practice of the Court, and not the law of the Court.

The Judge—You had better understand the practice about this law. It has been enforced here very often. The District Attorney may waive it if he please. I know very well that the late Mr. Fendall, District Attorney, used to ask the question. Sometimes Mr. Key did and sometimes he did not.

Mr. Stanton—That is precisely the point of view in which I proposed to discuss it; these objections alluded to were sporadic, exceptional cases. The question arises, whether the rule sought to be applied by the District-Attorney for the first time is the law of the land, or whether it is not merely acquiesced in, never having any real foundation in the statutes of the land. It is urged here as the practice of the Court, but to make that practice law it must be uniform. Then, as to the express statute, how stands it? The act of 1777 was merely a directory statute; it directed the sheriff to summon men having freehold property, but provided that that should be no cause of challenge. He stood not here on the ground that the law of the State of Maryland had changed, and did not now require the property qualification, but on the ground that that law never did apply to this District. He was satisfied that it was never contemplated by act of Congress to make the laws as to the property qualification of jurors applicable in the District, because then they would have the Penal Act of Maryland operating in one county, and the act of Virginia operating in another county. What was the common law in this District? It was the common law of England, as incorporated into and made part of the law of the District. In that common law there was no such property qualification to be found.

The Judge—Joseph S. Wright, having been called, and having answered several preliminary questions, the District-Attorney asked him if he was worth $800. He had a right to put that question. It was objected to by the defendant's counsel and argued. The County of Washington was part of the State of Maryland. The laws of Maryland were extended to the District by the act of 27th February, 1801, and are as much a part of the laws of the District, where not changed by act of Congress, as if Congress had enacted the several laws in so many words. If this particular provision of the act of Maryland of 1777 has not been uniformly practiced and enforced, I know that it has been practiced and enforced in many instances since I have been on the Bench.

The reason why uniformity did not prevail was, I suppose, that the District-Attorney did not choose to avail himself of the advantage. I think I heard the late District-Attorney say so, remarking that a man did not possess mind according to the weight of his pocket. Whether it is a wise law or not is not a question before the Court at all. The question is whether the law exists. With the laws of Maryland as enforced since 1801 we have nothing to do, more than we have with the laws of California since 1848. With so much of the laws of Maryland as are not changed by Congress since 1801 we have everything to do. The people of Alexandria had certain rules of action founded on the laws of Virginia, and the people of this country were governed by the laws of Maryland as they existed in 1801, so that a very curious state of things did actually exist. I have myself tried men in Alexandria under the laws of Virginia and punished them too when convicted, and I am sure every one who has practised at this bar knows that the laws of Maryland are enforced so far as not changed, with great uniformity. The tribunals of this District have labored under a great mistake for fifty-eight years, if the position taken by the counsel for the defence is correct. All the Courts, and all the Judges who have held Court in this District, have, with perfect unanimity, enforced these laws. It could not be otherwise, for Congress said they should be the law of the District. Congress had the right to change them, because it possesses Legislative power within the district. The law requiring a freehold qualification in the State of Maryland was amended by a subsequent law of Maryland so as to make the non-ownership of a freehold no cause of challenge, but yet it left the personalty of $800 as a pre-requisite for a man's being sworn as a juror. If either the District-Attorney or the counsel for the defence choose to make it a cause of challenge they can do so.

Mr. Stanton—The witness I believe has not answered.

District Attorney—The question was whether you were worth $800 in property?

Juror—I expect I am.

Mr. Carlisle—What was your previous answer?

Juror—That I was not certain.

Mr. Carlisle—You are not certain?

Juror—I am not certain that I am worth anything, but believe I am worth double that amount.

Mr. Carlisle—In property in this District?

Juror—No, Sir, not in this District.

The District-Attorney read the law which requires the juror to have the property in this State, and argued that that phrase applied also to this District.

Mr. Stanton—The personal-property qualification was not by the law of Maryland limited to the County, but to the State. Now, can the Court limit it to this County?

Mr. Carlisle—If the words "in this State" are not construed to mean in this District, we would be left without a single law in reference to testamentary disposition of property, or to property in slaves.

Mr. Stanton hoped the gentleman would not lug in the question of Slavery in this matter. [Laughter.] He argued that the status of property goes with the man.

To the Juror—What sort of property do you speak of?

Juror—Personal property.

Mr. Stanton—Personalty goes with the possessor. If the juror had $10,000 deposited in a bank of New-York, he has it, according to the view of the law, in his pocket. The residence of the party draws there the situs of his personalty.

Mr. Carlisle—I should like the witness to state what his property consists of.

Juror—In notes and debts due me. I have notes in the District.

Mr. Carlisle—Then your first answer was based on doubts of the solvency of your debts?

Mr. Stanton submitted that the question was wrong.

Mr. Carlisle did not wish to be a pupil of the gentleman.

The Judge thought that the question was right.

Juror—(In reply to Mr. Carlise's question)—That is what I meant.

Mr. Carlisle—Over and above all your debts and responsibilities you consider yourself worth over $800.

Juror—I do.

The Judge would not hold that the personal property should be in the District. He saw no objection to the juror.

Mr. Stanton—Swear him.

The Judge suggested that he had better not swear him till to-morrow, as if he were sworn the jury could not separate. It was not within half an hour of the hour of adjournment.

Mr. Stanton—There were reasons why I thought the jury should go at once under the protection of the law. He asked that the juror be sworn.

A juror stated that he should be glad if he were allowed to go home this evening. He had not expected to remain to-day.

The Judge said that course had often been pursued.

Mr. Stanton—It has been done by consent.

The Judge did not think it required consent.

Mr. Stanton supposed if the juror wanted to go home, he could go under the escort of an officer.

The Judge would not allow the jury to separate.

Mr. Stanton—Then we will not insist. We will consent for the convenience of the jury.

The Judge—Gentlemen of the jury, what is your desire about this?

A Juror—We desire to be discharged. [Laughter.]

Mr. Stanton—I am authorized by the prisoner to say that we assent to the arrangement proposed.

The Judge directed Mr. Wright, the twelfth juror, to be in Court at ten o'clock to-morrow, and told the Jury to make arrangements for a long absence from their families. He gave them the usual caution, and then the Court adjourned.

The Jury is composed as follows:

1.—Rezin Arnold, Washington County, farmer.
2.—James B. Davis, Washington County, farmer.
3.—John E. Neale, Washington County, shoe manufacturer.
4.—Wm. S. Hopkins, Washington County, gents. furnishing.
5.—Wm. Bond, Washington County, broker.
6.—James Kelly, Washington County, tinner.
7.—Wm. C. Harper, Washington County, grocer.
8.—Henry M. Knight, Washington County, grocer.
9.—Jesse B. Wilson, Washington County, grocer.
10.—John McDermott, Washington County, coachmaker.
11.—Wm. M. Moore, Washington County, grocer.
12.—Joseph S. Wright, Washington County, furniture dealer.

The only emotion exhibited by Mr. Sickles since the commencement of the trial was when his old friend Robert J. Dillon, of New-York, stepped up to him to-day in the dock and greeted him. Mr. Sickles turned away to conceal the tears that suffused his eyes.

The arrangement made by the counsel for the defence is—Mr. GRAHAM is to make the opening speech. After the case for the prosecution is closed, Mr. STANTON is to make the arguments on points of law, and Mr. BRADY is to examine the witnesses, and, with Mr. CHILTON to present the closing arguments.

The uniformly intelligent demeanor of the 170 men summoned as jurors struck with surprise the New-York counsel. They say they have never seen so fine a collection of jurors. The fact that while they expressed sympathy with the prisoner, they yet were honorable enough to avow their incompetency to serve, shows what public opinion is in the best classes of society here.

As to the question of property qualification for jurors, about which so much has been said to-day, it may not be amiss to state that in the State of New-York a similar property qualification exists—a juror must be assessed to the amount of $250, and his not being so assessed is a cause of challenge.

One of the jurors—the eleventh—is understood to have stated that since he was sworn he has come to the conclusion that his mind was not wholly unbiased. If this be so, it may affect the present organization of the Jury.

The Difficulty of Obtaining a Jury—Probable Length of the Trial—Mode of Conducting the Proceedings, &c.

From Our Own Correspondent.

WASHINGTON, Tuesday, April 5, 1859.

As was generally anticipated, much difficulty is experienced in obtaining a Jury in the Sickles case. The panel of seventy-five, which was ordered yesterday and made returnable this morning, has been exhausted, and with no greater result than the swearing in of just three Jurors. In this we have a significant index to the state of public feeling here. It is especially indicative when we take into account the fact that of the seventy-two Jurors who were to-day rejected, every man who was closely questioned as to the grounds on which he inferred his own incompetency, declared that his opinions were so unalterably fixed as to the matter of justification that he could not render an impartial verdict; in other words, that though the evidence elicited on the trial and the law adjudged to be applicable to the case demanded a verdict of guilty, his conscience would permit him to regard the killing of KEY as other than justifiable and right. The prospects are that from the panel summoned for to-morrow the requisite number of twelve will be made up, and the Court be thus enabled to proceed with the case without further delay. But whether or not, I do not well see how the trial can terminate this week. Much time will be consumed in discussing the relevancy of testimony, and just as much in summing up the case. The speeches on both sides will be exhaustive not only of the arguments strictly appropriate to the circumstances shown by the testimony admitted, but, as I take it, of the subject generally, and the question will now be formally decided for the first time whether the law will justify a husband in slaying an adulterer detected in communication with his wife either flagrante delicto, or under such circumstances as may be deemed within the meaning of the law an "act of adultery." As the fact of killing may not be controverted, I do not see what other aspect the case can be made to assume.

Mr. OULD, the District-Attorney, has associated with him Mr. CARLISLE, a leading member of this bar. The lawyers here are much divided as to the propriety of his appearing at all in the management of the prosecution—not so much, it would seem, because of his aiding the prosecuting officer, but because that, after refusing a brief from the defence, he accepted the appointment of assistant counsel against the defence. Judging from the practice in New-York, which almost every serious criminal case illustrates, the mere fact that the District-Attorney feels called upon to obtain legal aid does not seem liable to serious criticism. But whether professional etiquette will warrant a lawyer to refuse in the first place to undertake a defence, and subsequently to assume a position in which he virtually acts as prosecutor, is an entirely different question. However it may be, Mr. CARLISLE's connection with this case has been made the subject of much discussion, and, I believe I am warranted in saying, has excited no little disparaging comment.

It is said there are several able counsel advising the District Attorney, but taking no part in the public proceedings. Among these, I know, is Mr. BRADLEY, another lawyer of eminence and ability. I am informed, from a reliable source, that, so far from his either asking or desiring to be appointed as assistant prosecutor, he has invariably and most unequivocally deprecated the notion that any such application should be made in his behalf. He is in court daily, watching the organization of the trial, but will leave the moment that twelve jurors are obtained, and be seen no more in the case.

It is very interesting to compare the mode of conducting the preliminary proceedings on this trial with that of the Criminal Courts of New-York in cases involving equally serious consequences. One is especially struck, in the first place, by the intelligent looks of the jurors; in the second place, by the old fogyism that pervades all the arrangements and only formalizes confusion. The Court-room is small and badly aired, looks damp and smells musty; the Bench is spacious enough, but so high and so broad that the Judge cannot, without much difficulty, make himself heard over it. Then, close to the walls on either side of the bench, are two heavy wooden screens, designed, apparently to shelter the Judge in the very cold weather, but, so far as practical use is concerned, utterly serviceless, save so far as they may promote the views of the no doubt numerous aspirants for Judge CRAWFORD's position in the event of his demise. They seriously endanger the integrity of the judicial pericranium—a risk of which we had a notable warning yesterday, when one of these frames fell right across the rear of the Judge's seat, and in such a way that had the good old functionary only been leaning back in his chair, he would have got knocked on the head most assuredly.

Mr. SICKLES bears up wonderfully. There is an appearance of boyish elasticity about him that astonishes everybody. He is surrounded constantly by crowds of friends, and, so far as one may judge from personal appearances, (which, in his case, I fear, are not always to be regarded as betraying his state of mind,) he is neither perturbed nor anxious.

PROXIES IN RELIGIOUS SOCIETIES.—The Christian Intelligencer severely denounces the bill pending in the Legislature authorizing members of religious and benevolent societies to vote by proxy. It states that the bill was drawn and taken to Albany by JOHN JAY, Esq., who has long been an active and influential Abolitionist, and that its immediate object is either to revolutionize or destroy the American Tract Society. The Intelligencer contends that such a law would be most injurious in its effects upon all the leading benevolent societies of the day. So long as their policy is to be decided in open session, after full debate and by the votes of all the members present, public confidence in them can be maintained. But if proxy votes are to be allowed, intrigue will take the place of argument, agents will traverse the country personally or by letter, soliciting the proxies of women and children—many of whom are made members of these societies, and they will become the field for the exercise of the worst and most degrading arts of our political controversies. It sums up its objections to the bill by saying that: 1. The religious societies have not asked for this law. 2. They have remonstrated against it. 3. It savors of craft, in which fanaticism in morals is mingled with profligacy in politics. 4. It is an interference with institutions whose management the State has no right to control. 5. It is an attempt to do at Albany, under sanction of law, what could not be done by open and fair means in New-York. 6. It is partisan in its origin and its ends; and therefore unjust and oppressive towards the societies which are to be coerced by its power.

IMPORTANT FROM THE RIVER PLATE.

Settlement of the Paraguay Question—Concession of the American Claims—Dispatch from President Urquiza.

Through private advices received by a commercial house at Philadelphia, from Pernambuco March 4, we receive the highly important intelligence that the difficulties between the United States and Paraguay have been happily adjusted. The news was brought by the Brazilian Mail steamer Apa, which left Montevideo Feb. 16.

The particulars of the arrangement have not transpired. Rumor states that one stipulation embraces the payment of $10,000 to the widow of the pilot of the Water Witch, killed by one of the guns of Itapira; and another, a payment of $25,000 to the Hopkins Company. The general character of the settlement, however, we are enabled to gather from the subjoined communication addressed by President URQUIZA to the Argentine Executive. Had the documents referred to in this important paper reached us, we should be no longer in doubt as to the entire details of the Convention.

Dispatch from General Urquiza.

To the Most Excellent National Government:

On returning from Asuncion, I proceed to fulfill my duty in giving to the most excellent National Government an account of the fulfillment and result of the mission with which I was intrusted, and concerning which your Excellency thought proper to authorize me in consequence of the note which I directed to you under date of the 10th January.

The celerity with which the Commissioner of the United States made his movements rendered impossible a Conventional Conference with President LOPEZ either at Paz or at Corrientes; and, therefore, I deemed it due to his Excellency the President of Paraguay, who had offered to me that he would come to some point in our territory, that I should go to some place at or near Asuncion, where only could my efforts be used to prevent a war—which appeared to be imminent—the principal object of my voyage.

In consequence, on the 16th, I arrived at Asuncion, where I was received and lodged with every consideration and mark of friendship. I commend to the consideration of your Excellency and of the country the deferential and kind manner with which I was treated by my illustrious friend, the President of Paraguay. I recognize on the part of the people and Government of the Argentine Confederation a debt of fraternity and gratitude to the Government and people of Paraguay.

I dedicated my best efforts from the earliest moment to remove from the mind of President LOPEZ the apprehension and alarm produced by intentional reports and sinister declamations on the part of a certain portion of the Press. The Government of Paraguay was decidedly resolved to make a heroic resistance; a considerable concentration of military and warlike elements had been prepared to defend to the very utmost degree the dignity of the country.

The immense power of the American Union would encounter the force of a people and a government proud of their national powers. I may be permitted to express to your Excellency that the aspect of that war profoundly affected my heart; I trembled for the destiny of the innocent people; I trembled for the future of these new-born countries in political life and in the progress of commerce and industry, thus to be disturbed by an international war.

I endeavored to inspire the government with the confidence which I had in the policy of the Cabinet at Washington, founded on the fraternal relations which it had cultivated with the Government of the Argentine Confederation, the profound conviction that I felt that it was never the intention of our powerful brethren of the North that their position of fraternal influence with their brethren of the South should be renounced, and that their great power should fall upon them for the purpose of causing their decay and their ruin.

I protested that I would spare no personal effort in favor of the peace of Paraguay and the dignity of its Government, and that I hoped from these efforts all that the greatest love of peace could promise.

Above all, I gave him the assurance of obtaining at least, as a proof of consideration for the Commissioner of a friendly Government, that a negotiation on conciliatory terms should be initiated in a manner agreeable to the interests of the American States.

My confidence was not in vain. The estimable and distinguished Commissioner of the United States, who has displayed towards me a deference and consideration which entitle him to the gratitude of the Government and of the country, had hardly arrived when he visited me and gave me an opportunity of demonstrating to him also that the information conveyed to the Government of the United States concerning the position of Paraguay and the proceedings of its Government was greatly exaggerated, and to appeal to the consideration and to his interest for this beautiful country, which presents all its riches to the men of peace and labor and to the industry and the commerce of the world.

The merit of my efforts dwindled before the beautiful and noble qualities of Mr. BOWLIN. Fortunately, this Commissioner of the United States interested himself in behalf of peace like a man full of humanitarian feelings, of liberality and of progress. He devoted himself to the policy of conciliation with all the gentlemanly bearing which makes him worthy to represent the great American nation.

The speeches exchanged in the solemn reception will show to your Excellency that the negotiation was initiated in an honorable and conciliatory manner. I have the honor of directing attention to them under the numbers 1 and 2. When, in due course, I became aware of the remarks of Mr. BOWLIN, my hopes were strengthened, and I looked forward with pleasure to the breathings of peace, cherishing within my heart the glory of contributing to the reëstablishment of fraternal relations between the United States and Paraguay, whose best fruits of peace it concerns us all to gather.

The Commissioner declared that his instructions did not permit him to accept the official mediation which the Plenipotentiaries of Brazil and of the Argentine Confederation were disposed to offer; that it was in deference to the spirit of conciliation, and as a tribute of especial consideration to myself, he accepted only the personal intervention of my kind, frank, and disinterested offices, and that to this end he would open preparatory confidential conferences so as to arrange the manner of a settlement.

What I owe to the polite attention of the Commissioner is perfectly set forth in the communications exchanged with him which accompany this, and which will be found numbered 3, 4 and 5.

Several conferences took place, in the whole course of which I took the part which had been so honorably conceded to me by my illustrious friend the President of Paraguay and the Commissioner of the United States, even to assisting in the last conference in which the question was decided.

To say all before my country, I boast of the glory of having effectively contributed to the prevention of war between two brotherly nations. I feel pleasure in announcing to your Excellency that I experienced the good fortune of witnessing the settlement of satisfactory and honorable bases between the President of Paraguay and his Excellency the Commissioner of the Government of the United States. Your Excellency will have occasion to judge of the said bases by the private copy, which I subjoin under No. 7, and to appreciate the importance of so worthy and honorable an arrangement, which reëstablishes on the best footing kind and fraternal relations between these two American nations.

Such a happy result will elevate the Argentine Government in the consideration of the free Powers, drawing closer our friendship with the colossus of America, whose institutions serve as an example, and whose influence and stimulus we require in our but recent life, and which we honorably desire; such a prosperous result must bind us in an eternal bond of fraternity to our immediate confrère of Paraguay—united to us by the community of interests, of origin, and of destiny.

I come proudly with this laurel—green and pure—which I have had the happiness to cull, and to deposit it on the altar of my country, offering to it anew the sacrifice of all my life as a holocaust to the principles of peace, of fraternity, and of honor—which are the basis of the Argentine policy.

JUSTO JOSE DE URQUIZA.

From the Island of San Domingo.

LATER FROM HAYTI—IMPORTANT FROM THE DOMINICAN REPUBLIC—IMPENDING WAR WITH DENMARK.

By an arrival at this port we have dates from Port-au-Prince to March 15.

President GEFFRARD had issued several decrees relative to the police of the island.

The Government of the Republic, upon the suggestion of the Consul-General of France, and of H. B. M. Vice-Consul, has decreed a truce for five years, from the 25th of February last, with the Dominican end of the Island.

CAPE HAYTIAN, March 16.—A cargo of provisions and breadstuffs from Boston, is still on the market. Coffee is advancing, but logwood and money is tending downwards.

PORT AU PRINCE, March 19.—Business is moderately active. Rice and flour tend downward. Doubloons, $154 and advancing. Logwood, $50.

JACMEL, March 15.—Trade is very dull, and sales can only be effected with difficulty. Coffee is active at $104.

JEREMIE, March 15.—Business is in the same quiet and unsatisfactory state we noticed several weeks since, owing to the scarcity of money. Coffee $110. Logwood $60.

San Domingo is threatened with blockade from a Danish fleet. The Danish Government demands $150,000 to be paid to JOHN CRISTMAS, a Danish subject, as reparation for the destruction of the Danish schooners Trio and Crisio, by BAEZ, some time ago. The Dominican Government wishes to leave the matter to the arbitration of two friendly powers, but CRISTMAS, who seems to have full charge of the matter, refuses to accede to this. He has come to San Domingo in the steamer Heindal, and threatens to blockade the ports of the Republic. The Dominicans are prepared to resist, even at the risk of open war with Denmark. An intense excitement prevails on the Island, and at the latest dates, March 15, are in hourly expectation of a blockade.

FREIGHT AND TRAVEL.—BALTIMORE, NEW-YORK AND THE WEST AND SOUTHWEST.—The Baltimore and Ohio Railroad, and its fully developed connecting lines, offers a most desirable and direct route between New-York and all the cities and towns in the great West and Southwest. Freight promptly conveyed, in largest quantities and at lowest rates, and passengers—first-class and emigrant—ticketed through, with their baggage, with best speed and comfort.

This is the only line by which travelers between New-York and the West can visit Washington City. THE METHODIST.

This Journal, as far as practicable, will represent the interests of all the branches of the great Methodist family. But it will devote itself, more particularly to the questions of reform now agitating the Methodist Episcopal Church. It will specially advocate Lay representation, (not coöperation,) indefinite extension of the time of ministerial services, and will give to the Church a new platform on the subject of Slavery.

It will be open to such full and free discussion as no OFFICIAL JOURNAL legitimately can be.

In a peculiar sense,—without touching upon the rights of any administration paper,—it will aim to be the organ of the METHODIST PEOPLE.

Published monthly, by WM. B. BARBER, at No. 54 Greenwich-st., New-York. Price $1, (until General Conference.)

NEWS OF THE DAY.

The steamship Canada, with advices four days later, is now due at Halifax from Liverpool, which port she left on the 26th ult. There were no signs of either her, or the Indian, due at Portland, at midnight.

After three days' effort, and the calling of about one hundred and seventy names, a jury has at last been obtained in the Sickles case. Considerable time was occupied yesterday in a discussion between the District-Attorney and Mr. STANTON, as to the propriety of enforcing the property qualification. It was finally decided to be proper. The Court meets to-day at 10 o'clock, when the jury will be sworn and the trial will be immediately proceeded with. The arguments for the defence are expected to be very elaborate and exhaustive. Mr. BRADY will have charge of the examination of the witnesses.

The intelligence reported as received by a mercantile firm, to the effect that the Paraguay difficulty had been honorably adjusted, and the objects of the American expedition attained, was on Wednesday posted at the Philadelphia Exchange. The particulars are unfortunately quite indistinct, the accounts omitting to state whether the exactions of Commissioner BOWLIN had been conceded in full, or whether reparation was only partial. A congratulatory dispatch from the President of the Argentine Confederation to the authorities at his capital gives, however, the assurance that the whole subject had been amicably arranged, equally to the satisfaction of the American Commissioner and of the President of Paraguay.

Advices from Hayti to March 19 announce the completion of a truce between that Republic and the Dominicans, to endure five years from the 25th of February last. Several decrees relative to the police of the State had been issued. Business was active at Port au Prince, but inanimate elsewhere.

From the Dominican Republic we have intimations of a serious difficulty between that Government and Denmark, arising out of the seizure of two Danish vessels by the late administration of BAEZ. A proposition of the Dominican Executive to submit the question to arbitration had been refused by the commander of the Danish frigate making the demand, and as the Dominicans declined to offer other accommodation, a blockade of the more important points was hourly expected.

In the State Senate, yesterday, the resolutions agreeing to a reduction of the Canal tolls, and empowering the Canal Board to reduce tolls whenever they may deem necessary, were passed. The Registry Law bill was discussed during the afternoon session, but without any definite action. In the Assembly, the bill to amend the City Hall act was passed. The vote killing the bill annulling the building associations in New-York and Brooklyn was reconsidered, and the bill was passed. The bill to amend the excise law was lost. The bill to amend the Brooklyn Water act was passed; also the bill to define the duties and raise the salaries of Assistant Police Clerks in New-York. A great amount of business of no general interest was transacted.

A decision was yesterday rendered by the Court of Appeals in the case of the Old Police force of this City. Five of the Judges concur in pronouncing their discharge by the Metropolitan Police Commissioners to be illegal and void, while three are of the contrary opinion. Judges GRAY, STRONG, COMSTOCK, SELDEN, and ALLEN, are the majority, while the minority are Judges JOHNSON, DENIO and GROVER.

The opposition to the proposed new Charter for this City, now before the Legislature, is quite fierce. The main objection to it is found in that section which continues in office until January, 1863, the present incumbents in the Law Department, the Street Department, and the Croton Aqueduct Board, together with the City Chamberlain. This arrangement is thought to be the result of a political bargain for the benefit of the incumbents referred to. Besides the Common Council Committee, there is in Albany a delegation of citizens, with a numerously signed remonstrance against the passage of the bill.

The Senate yesterday confirmed the nominations of Dr. GUNN as Health Officer, in the place of Dr. THOMPSON, and Dr. JEROME as Physician to the Marine Hospital. The vote in each case was 28 to 4.

The fugitive slave case was yesterday decided by Commissioner LONGSTRETH, by the discharge of the prisoner. The decision was founded principally on the failure of the prosecution to establish the identity of the alleged fugitive. The claimant says that he escaped in November, 1854, while it was in evidence that he was in Harrisburg as early as the Winter of 1853, or the Spring of 1854. The height of the negro also varied three inches from the description in the power of attorney.

A terrible conflagration was raging in New-Orleans yesterday afternoon, the loss by which had reached a million dollars. The Lower Levee cotton press, containing 10,000 bales, was consumed, with four squares, embracing 70 houses.

The Board of Councilmen held a session last evening. A communication from the Mayor with reference to the proposed alterations in the City Charter was received. After considerable confused debate it was received and ordered on file.

The Board of Education, last evening, elected HENRY C. BOYD Chief Clerk in the Depository, at a salary of $1,100 per annum, and increased the salary of the Receiving and Delivery Clerk to $1,100. Some other uninteresting routine business was transacted, and the Board adjourned.

The meeting of the Commissioners of Emigration, yesterday, was rather a pleasant reunion than a business meeting. They met for the first time in their new room at Castle Garden. A number of Ex-Commissioners were present, among them C. H. MARSHALL, G. W. BLUNT, JAS. KELLY and R. GARRIGUE, Esqrs. No business of importance was transacted beyond passing a resolution determining to license fifty emigrant runners to solicit, and five steamboats to land passengers. A collation, which afforded an opportunity for calling up reminiscences of the early days of the Commission, was served up after the business had been disposed of.

The old story of the Boker and Dean marriage was brought up again, incidentally, in the Supreme Court yesterday. Mr. HENRY BERTHOLF, one of the officers of the Court, has been sued on a mortgage given by him to Mr. BOKER, and he defends on the ground of set-off for money due him for the board and care of Mr. BOKER's doughter PETRONELLA, during the trial of the habeas corpus case before Justice DAVIES. The plaintiff moves to strike out this answer.

The sales of Cotton, yesterday, reached 8,000 bales, including 6,000 bales in transitu. Prices were quite firm. Flour was somewhat brisker. Grain continued depressed. The movements in Provisions were fair. Sugars and Molasses were in moderate demand. Coffee was freely sought after. A cargo of 3,000 bags Rio was purchased at 11⅛c. per pound. The sales of Naval Stores included 3,000 barrels Common Resin, to arrive and afloat, at $1 62½ per 310 pounds; and 350 barrels Spirits Turpentine at 53c.@53½c. per gallon. Rice was in good request. Other branches of trade exhibited no remarkable changes. The total number of vessels of all classes in port was 526.

The Cattle Market of the City received 3,367 fresh bullocks during the week ending yesterday, which is about the average weekly supply for two years past. Owing to small receipts for the previous market and the cool weather yesterday, together with an unusual influx of country butchers, the demand was brisk and the advanced rates of the last market day were maintained. The best cattle sold at 12c.@12½c. ℘ lb. net, for the estimated dressed weight of the quarters, and very few of the poorest sold below 9½c. There were comparatively few animals offered of the "scalawag" order, and the average of all sales ranged at about 10½c. The yards were cleared before sundown. The competition between the various railroads has reduced the freight from Western localities to a lower point than ever before. Some bullocks came through from Cincinnati to this City for less than $7 per head, while $17 per head has sometimes been paid hitherto. While these low rates prevail, we may look for increased receipts from the West.

The Insurance Department.

We mentioned, some weeks ago, the introduction by Mr. OPDYKE, in the Assembly, of a bill creating a Department of the State Government to superintend the business of Insurance, as another, and very useful department does that of Banking. It was introduced with the concurrence, tacit or express, of all the Insurance Companies in this City, and at the special instance of several of the most prominent and respectable of them. No charge is proposed to be made upon the Treasury, as the expense of the Department is to be defrayed by a small tax upon the Companies themselves, to which they by no means object in view of the benefits to be secured.

On Saturday the bill was considered by the Grinding Committee, and reported to the House for action by a vote of seven to one. Representatives of leading Insurance Companies were heard by the Committee in favor of the measure, and Comptroller CHURCH, with Mr. R. CHAMBERLAIN, his Insurance Clerk, against it. The Comptroller opposed it on distinct party grounds, as detaching from the power and importance of his office. Among other points urged by him and his Clerk, it was insisted that no necessity existed for the new Department, as the duties were already fully discharged by a single clerk, at $1,200 a year.

In reply, it was stated that CHAMBERLAIN, the clerk referred to, was President of the "New-York Insurance Company," which advertised $500,000 capital, collected a large amount of premiums and exploded, paying nothing; that the counsel and one of the Directors of that precious Company was Chairman of the first Board of Commissioners appointed by Comptroller CHURCH to pass upon the qualifications of new Companies; that in two recent cases when applications were made to the Comptroller for an examination, CHAMBERLAIN was appointed Chairman of the Board of Commissioners, but did not act; that the two other Commissioners made the examination in half an hour and charged $300 in each case; that the payment of this charge was declared to be a condition precedent to the issuing a license by the Comptroller; that therefore the bill was paid, but under protest, and a suit commenced by one of the Companies to recover back a portion of the amount; and that in the course of the discussion in relation to the payment of the $300, one of the Commissioners stated to the Secretary of the Company that one Company had paid them $1,500 fees to pass their papers, the Secretary replying that he thought it cheap, considering the amount of perjury involved. It was moreover stated before the Committee that a large number of bogus Companies had been passed, and licensed by the Comptroller during his term of office. Such facts as these, hidden from the public, but well known to insurance men, show why it is that the officers of the sound Companies desire an Insurance Department, with a competent and honest man at its head. The Comptroller necessarily commits the business to a clerk, and what sort of a clerk, the history of Mr. R. CHAMBERLAIN may partly show. Enormous interests are dependent upon our insurance companies. Many of them—the majority no doubt—are well managed, sound, and worthy of trust and confidence. But the community have no ready means of detecting those which, like the "New-York Insurance Company," are rotten swindling concerns. Hence the necessity for a thorough supervision, which shall scrutinize regularly and frequently the securities which represent their capital. The strongest temptations to knavery exist in getting up the stock of new companies. Ingenious artifices are resorted to for purposes of deception and fraud, requiring constant vigilance and intimate knowledge of the business for their detection.

We cannot conceive of any valid reason why the bill should not pass. It is greatly needed for the protection of the people, and it will cost the State nothing. The Insurance Companies would seem to be the only quarter from which objection could come, but they on the contrary are unanimously for the measure.

A Prince in Prospective.

It may have escaped the attention of those of the City Councils who are intrusted with the dispensation of civic hospitality, that a proper object of courtesy is probably within sight of our shores. We allude to Prince ADALBERT, of Prussia. Our last information from Havana bespoke his presence in the insular capital, the guest of the Captain-General, and announced his departure for New-York on board his flagship, the Géfion, Captain DONNER—for Prince ADALBERT is Grand Admiral of the Prussian Navy, in which the Géfion, although bearing no more than forty-four guns, is a first-class vessel, and not without historical repute. For that same keel has carried the noble sailor all around the world; and, if we mistake not, was the very craft which bore him to that fierce encounter with the pirates of the Riff, from which, it is lamentable to remember, he came off much the worse. May the actual Spanish expedition against the "riff-raff" of the seas avenge him mightily!

For the rest, to grow personal, our coming visitor is a first cousin of the reigning though no regnant King of Prussia, and figures in the Gotha Almanac with the full title of Prince HENRY WILLIAM ADALBERT, and with the description of Chief-of-Brigade in the Russian army—his age forty-seven years. There is much the Prussian voyager may find in this his first visit to America to enlarge his experience, and develope those professional ideas which the chieftainship of a navy mustering in all no more guns than would arm two of our line-of-battle ships, can hardly be supposed to have expanded to alarming dimensions. Should he accidentally bring his gallant little vessel to anchor in the shadow of the Russian General Admiral, he may obtain some valuable and novel views in naval architecture. All else, we trust, the municipal entertainers of AMIN BEY and MOHAMMED PACHA will be prepared to show him in painful detail, and with appropriate ceremony. Scions of royalty come not with the blossoms of every Spring. Who was it told the story of an eccentric, who, tired of dinner-giving, resumed all his hospitality in honor of the first ensign of the army he had ever encountered?

Women in Court.

We think the appearance of women in Court-rooms is sometimes unwarrantably censured. There are occasions, indeed, when no modest woman should be voluntarily present. And the same rule is applicable, with entire correctness, if not with equal force, to men. When the ends of justice require indecent details to be exposed to Courts and Juries, why should the room be crowded with men and boys? Has modesty no claim upon males, or is it a virtue that should be monopolized by the weaker sex? It is not, indeed, to be denied that the uncalled for attendance of women at such trials is a frequent occurence, and a very gross impropriety. Nor is it questioned that the female character is compromised vastly more by such conduct than that of the opposite sex. But there are very many trials which involve nothing indelicate, trials where the rights and interests of their sex are at stake, which women may witness, if they please, without subjecting themselves to just rebuke, though they do not occupy seats on the bench, serve on juries, or participate in legislation. But they are, nevertheless, amenable to the laws, in their property and their persons. It would, therefore, seem that their appearance in the tribunals where the law is administered, should not, necessarily, call down upon their heads the opprobrium of public censure.

An evening paper, in its account of the recent Stephens case, mentions, as a notable fact, that "some fifteen ladies who had been admitted to the Court-room, occupied seats on the west side, within the bar." When it is considered that Courts are, by statute, required to be public, and open to all persons, the wonder in the case referred to must consist in the circumstance that some of the persons were "ladies." Otherwise they might have come in as of right, and without special "admission." Why should the attendance of a few women occasion particular remark? A husband was to be sentenced for the murder of his wife. Great efforts were expected to be made in his behalf by astute and devoted counsel. The whole trial had been a history of domestic tragedy. If the prisoner was really guilty, his crime was the destruction, by slow poison, of an amiable, trusting, defenceless wife. Surely, it is not strange that other women, wives and mothers themselves, should feel interest in the case, and be prompted by that interest to witness the closing scene of the trial.

None can reprobate more strongly than we the practice of women crowding to trials where unclean details are called out in the testimony. Yet we do not for a moment believe that they are influenced by the same degraded motives which bring men to the like places. An unregulated curiosity, so strong in the sex, often impels females to listen to what should never reach their ears. But, at the same time, we are cultivating a kind of squeamishness in regard to what women may witness, and where they may go, for which there is no foundation in good taste, common sense, or morals, and which betrays a prurient state of mind in those who censure.

May at the Academy of Music.

It is a mistake on the whole to style Mr. ULLMAN the "Napoleon" of the Opera. He is not in the least like NAPOLEON, and if he were we should have seen the last of the opera long ago. Fourteenth-street would have been appalled with a miniature burning of Moscow. Prime donne and tenors, bassoons and violins would have formed an Eylau in the East River; and the extravagant manager would have rushed madly upon his Waterloo in the Treasurer's Office, or the Director's Room.

None of these disasters have occurred. On the contrary, the Impresario of the Academy has passed safely through the perils even of a New-Orleans campaign; and now returns to us bringing what PACKENHAM failed to win, "beauty and booty," both from the sunny South. He comes "before the swallows dare," the swallows like prudent birds dreading bronchitis too much to venture on these April airs of ours, and on Monday night will take the Academy by storm with the strange sensation of a genuine lyric drama.

Of course, after saying this, we need not add that he has left the lovely PICCOLOMINI behind him. "Young New-York" may tear its hair over this announcement, and probably will. But all the real lovers of the Opera, who can't help thinking dramatic intelligence, lyric passion, and the magnetism of a nature thoroughly musical, important elements in the making of a prima donna, will rejoice exceedingly to know that Madame GAZZANIGA is to be Queen of this sudden Operatic May, and that she is to reappear before us in that captivating opera of "La Traviata," which might have been written for her special qualities of dramatic talent and lyrical inspiration. Our long musical Lent has stimulated an operatic hunger and thirst, which will assuredly turn Monday night, with a perfect disregard of times and seasons, into a genuine Mardi-Gras at the Academy of Music.

A QUEER QUESTION FOR A NEWSPAPER TO ASK.—The Washington Union has evidently passed into new, or at least, inexperienced hands. It treated its readers to a homily yesterday, on a subject with which the writer thereof had no practical acquaintance, to wit: "Journalism," in the course of which occurs this remarkable sentence: "But we are sometimes compelled to ask if newspaper enterprise and competition are not productive of great moral evils." What appears to have excited the Union is the surprising enterprise shown by the New-York Press in reporting occurrences in Washington, which the local papers do not think of sufficient consequence to be taken notice of, and the great moral evil consequent upon such enterprise is, that the people of Washington have to depend upon the TIMES, and other New-York papers, for an account of affairs happening in their own streets. The morning after the shooting of BARTON KEY by SICKLES, the Times contained three columns in relation to the sad affair, which had been furnished by telegraph, while none of the Washington papers contained more than a half column, giving only the most meagre details. It is no wonder that the Union should be so often compelled to ask itself if newspaper enterprise is not often productive of great moral evils. But if the Union would depend more upon its enterprise, and less upon Government subsidies for a support, we are disposed to believe it would think differently on the subject of newspaper competition, and be pretty sure of answering its own question in the negative.

LEGISLATIVE ANTI-SLAVERY MOVEMENTS.—The Personal Liberty bill has been defeated in our State Assembly—sixteen Republican members voting against it, and fifteen not voting at all. A similar bill has met a similar fate in the Legislature of Massachusetts.

We are very glad of this result. More than once since this bill was introduced at Albany, we have expressed the opinion that it was not called for by any public necessity; that the cases to which it is intended to apply have ceased to arise, and that it could therefore do no possible good, but would certainly do a good deal of harm, by fortifying the conviction in the Southern mind of a deadly hostility on our part towards them. Aggression by words and menaces is bad enough, even when it is called for by some public emergency; but when it is wholly gratuitous and needless, it becomes doubly insulting, and can only do mischief.

The object with which the bill was presented, was undoubtedly to satisfy the expectations of the ultra Abolitionists, and demonstrate to their satisfaction the soundness of the Republican Party upon all the topics growing out of Slavery. The attempt was a very foolish one, and, under present circumstances, will react. It is impossible for the Republicans to go far enough to meet the views of Abolitionists without going too far for the toleration of more conservative Anti-Slavery men; and they are in far greater danger on this side than on the other.

We cannot help regarding the Proxy bill,—giving to members of religious and benevolent societies the right of voting by proxy,—as a still more lamentable mistake in the same direction. Its immediate object is palpable enough. It is designed to place the American Tract Society in the hands of that portion of its members who wish it to publish tracts on Slavery. Whether the end be good or not, it should only be sought by fair and open means. These Societies have always been allowed to regulate their own internal affairs hitherto,—and it is an unjust encroachment on their rights for a political party in the Legislature to impose upon them rules and regulations which they have not seen fit to adopt for themselves. If it may be done in this case, it may in every other; and all the religious and benevolent societies of the State are therefore interested in preventing so great a wrong. It will be a new feature in partisan controversies to see a political party thus attempting to dragoon by law a missionary association into its special service.

THE IMPORTANCE OF WRITING SO AS TO BE UNDERSTOOD.—The decision by the Court of Appeals in favor of the old Police, which has just been rendered, will entail a very heavy bill of costs upon this City, and involve the Police Commissioners in a mesh of difficulties from which they will not be able to extricate themselves in a hurry. All the troubles and vexations growing out of this Police imbroglio have been occasioned by the bungling and ambiguous manner in which the act creating the new Police force was drawn up. No two persons on reading the act would be likely to agree in opinion as to its meaning. The Court of Appeals has twice been equally divided in pronouncing judgment in respect to it, and at last comes to a decision by a mere majority; and deciding, too, directly contrary to what the framers of the act say they meant by it. So, in consequence of a mere matter of defective grammar, a lack of perspicuity in the wording of an act which any man of ordinary education might have written with perfect clearness, the City is to be put to an expense of nearly a million of dollars. It would save the people an enormous sum of money annually if the State were to employ a competent person to draw up the bills presented to the Legislature, so that they should be sure of expressing precisely what their framers intended.

ZOOLOGICAL MUSEUM IN CAMBRIDGE.—Some time ago Professor AGASSIZ proposed to deposit his large collection of zoological specimens in a museum for the use of the public, provided such an institution should be established. No offer more truly munificent could proceed from any scientific man, and it has been met with prompt liberality by the people and Legislature of Massachusetts. On Saturday a bill was introduced in the Senate at Boston to incorporate a Board of Trustees of the Museum of Comparative Zoology. The act authorizes said trustees to hold real and personal property not exceeding $300,000. Mr. WM. GRAY, one of their number, has already contributed $50,000, and the State is to appropriate the proceeds of lands in the vicinity of Boston, contingent upon the subscription by individuals of a certain amount in aid of the institution.

With characteristic generosity, Professor AGASSIZ proposes to receive into his laboratory in the contemplated Museum building, when completed, any teacher connected with the Public Schools of the State desirous of fitting himself to teach Natural History, and to give him such information as he can, free of charge, during as long or as short a period as he may choose, setting no other limit to such admission than the capabilities of the rooms devoted to the instruction of pupils.

The Boston journals are emphatic in their applause of Professor AGASSIZ, and well they may be. The Old World has made no more valuable contribution to the New than that distinguished gentleman. Holding, as he does, the first place in his chosen department of science, he adorns his high position by modesty scarcely less eminent, and by all the personal qualities which win and fix the regard of mankind. His very presence in this country, as has been well remarked by a Boston paper, is a continued act of self-sacrifice. The highest honors vainly await his acceptance in Europe. He has rejected an imperial invitation to the most attractive post the Old World could offer to a man of his tastes and pursuits. We rejoice and are proud that he is appreciated in the United States, and especially in that section of the country where he has chosen to fix his residence. Massachusetts honors herself in establishing a Museum for AGASSIZ, and if his name were capable of additional lustre his devotion to the cause of popular instruction, evinced in his recent proposal, would confer it.

THE SICKLES TRIAL.—A Jury has been impanneled at last for the trial of Mr. SICKLES. The twelfth dispassionate man, who had no opinion or sympathies on the subject, was found yesterday afternoon, and the Court thereupon adjourned. The trial will now commence. The Washington Star and New-York Tribune and Evening Post have been stating for the last eight or ten days that the sympathy reported to prevail in Washington for Mr. SICKLES did not exist,—that although there might have been something of the kind at the outset, there had been a decided reaction, and that the feeling was now strongly against him. We refer to the matter in this connection only to say that the proceedings thus far do not sustain the correctness of this statement. Three days have been consumed in getting a Jury, and out of one hundred and seventy-nine persons summoned at random one hundred and sixty-seven had no hesitation in expressing their sympathy for SICKLES. Our neighbors were too fast or too zealous to be accurate.

NEWS BY TELEGRAPH.

INTERESTING FROM WASHINGTON.

Character of the Dispatches to Gen. Lamar—The Ratification of the Ouseley Treaty—Points of Difference in the Cass-Yrisarri Treaty, &c.

Special Dispatch to the New-York Times.

WASHINGTON, Wednesday, April 6.

The sensation paragraphs sent from this city about the new Central American policy are all nonsense. No notice has been given to the Diplomatic Corps, as stated in a dispatch; but Gen. JEREZ has been informally notified of dispatches which have been forwarded to Gen. LAMAR, instructing him to demand satisfaction of Nicaragua, should the reports relative to the seizure of the Transit Company's steamers prove to be correct. He is also instructed to demand the ratification or rejection of the Cass-Yrissari treaty without further delay. This is the whole of the new policy.

The Administration has positive knowledge of the fact that the Ouseley Treaty has been ratified. Lord NAPIER has received information of the fact, and a copy of the treaty is here, as I before telegraphed you. General JEREZ has it. The Ouseley alteration from this treaty as published in the TIMES is in the twentieth article, in which it is agreed that the consent of Nicaragua shall be asked for the landing of troops by England, unless the emergency be too sudden to permit it. Our Government refuses to ask consent under any circumstances. Such is the difference between the treaties, and such the issue with our Government. The clause stipulating that the United States shall enforce the neutrality laws has been arranged, and the remaining issue is the difference between tweedledum and tweedledee. Mr. LAMAR has not been instructed to come home under any state of circumstances. Q.

[FROM THE REPORTER FOR THE ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

WASHINGTON, Wednesday, April 6.

Letters received here from San Domingo state that previous to the Danish action against SANTANA's Government, the French demanded the concession of all the gold and silver mines of the Republic. The writer of the letter is entitled to full credence.

The Postmaster-General has by letter informed the Boston Committee, that $12,000 must be deposited in specie for the rent of the Summer-street Post-Office, and $600 for the expense of removal, after which an order will issue restoring the office to State-street.

It is asserted, in usually reliable quarters, that after the 13th of September next the mails will be carried between New-York and San Francisco by the Nicaragua instead of the Panama route. The contract is to continue until the 30th of June, 1860, the end of the present fiscal year, leaving Congress to determine, in the meantime, what shall be done after that date. The authority for this contract is claimed under the law of 1845.

The Jury in the Sickles case is generally regarded as a good one, it being composed of some of the most respectable men of the District of Columbia.

In view of the fitting out of the new war steamers, the Navy Department will probably experience some difficulty in procuring the necessary number of Engineers. There are now lacking of a full complement eight chiefs, twenty-five first assistants, thirty-six second assistants, and twenty-four third assistants. The reason for this is doubtless in the inadequacy of the compensation. There is also a scarcity of Pursers, Surgeons and Marines, owing in part to the requirements of the Paraguay Expedition.

Connecticut Election.

NEW-HAVEN, Conn., Wednesday, April 6.

Returns from all the towns in the State show that 129 Republicans are elected Representatives and 100 Democrats.

The Republicans have elected Senators in the Second, Fifth, Sixth, Seventh, Ninth, Eleventh, Twelfth, Fifteenth, Seventeenth, Nineteenth and Twenty-first Districts, and the Democrats in the First, Third, Fourth, Eighth, Tenth, Sixteenth, Eighteenth and Twentieth Districts.

The returns from all the towns but Salem and Ledyard, which last year gave 54 Democratic majority, elect Governor BUCKINGHAM by 2,008 majority.

Wisconsin Election.

MILWAUKEE, Wis., Wednesday, April 6.

LYNDE, Democrat, has about 3,000 majority in this city, for Judge of the Supreme Court. The returns from the State show about the same comparative vote as last Fall. The result is doubtful.

Election in Chicago.

CHICAGO, Wednesday, April 6.

The election yesterday in this city for Judges and Clerks of the Superior Court resulted in the success of the entire Republican ticket by an average majority of 2,000. The vote is 7,000 less than the March election.

Election in Keokuk, Iowa.

ST. LOUIS, Wednesday, April 6.

The municipal election in Keokuk on Monday, resulted in the success of LEIGHTON, Republican, for Mayor, by 180 majority. A majority of Republican Councilmen was also elected.

Confirmation of the New Health Officer and Marine Hospital Physician—Three Port-wardens Nominated—City Hall Bill Passed—License Bill Lost—No Harbor-masters to be Nominated—$200,000 Voted to the Albany and Susquehanna Railroad—The Personal Liberty Bill Reconsidered and Recommitted for Amendment—Filibustering, &c., &c.

From Our Own Correspondent.

ALBANY, Wednesday, April 6, 1859.

The Senate in Secret Session did a good job to-day—I mean that it sealed up a host of open questions, and relieved the anxiety of several anxious people. The Governor's nominees for Health Officer, Dr. Gunn, of New-York, and for Physician of the Marine Hospital, Dr. Jerome, of Trumansville, were confirmed. The new Port-warden bill—Port-warden BUTLER's bill, which turned out all the present Port-wardens to make room for six new ones, being deader than a door-nail, having expired by its inherent mortality, as it lay neglected on General Orders, the Governor sent in to-day the names of three Port-wardens to fill the vacancies caused by the retiring of EDGAR MCMULLEN, TIBBETTS, and ——; JARED PECK, (Ex M. C. of Westchester County, who was formerly a Democrat, and walked out of the party on the Missouri Compromise repeal;) Mr. HUTCHINSON, (a member of the Christian Union and a resident of the Thirteenth Ward of New-York,) and Mr. BURLEIGH, (of Albany, anciently Harbor-master, under Governor CLARK.) There nominations lie over a week of course.

As to Harbor-masters, rumor says that none will be sent in this season.

The License bill came up in Assembly this morning. Though in many respects it is an improvement upon the existing law, in others it is less acceptable,—among other things, reducing 100 per cent. the price of licenses to sell liquor. Mr. TUTHILL moved to recommit, with instructions to make the price for licenses range, instead of from $15 to $100, from $100 to $500. Mr. VAN HORN moved to amend the instructions to make the range from $30 to $150. Both these being lost, the Temperance people generally voted against the bill, and it was lost, yeas, 51; nays, 66.

The bill giving $200,000 to the Albany and Susquehanna Railroad was passed—the Speaker pronouncing it a three-fifths bill. An effort to refer it to the Committee on two-thirds and three-fifths bills was carried, as it did not receive a two-thirds vote. This bill gives the bonus to the road on such terms that it can't possibly be called for this year. The Sachondaga Bridge bill falling into the same category, had the same reference.

The Personal Liberty bill, which yesterday was lost, was in a full house reconsidered and recommitted to a friendly Committee, to be made constitutional, if possible.

The Connecticut Boundary bill has been sent to a Select Committee to report complete. It makes three new Commissioners, and so far is eminently deserving of consideration. But judging from the tenor of the Governor's Message on the subject, the new Commissioner's might feel instructed to turn over to Connecticut a slice of the Empire State, and so far it frightens the Dutchess and Westchester County people. The Committee (which consists of Messrs. Makin, Tuthill, Van Valkenberg, Mallery and Lee) after all its sweatings and cogitations, is unable to report complete at present,—nor have the names of the Commissioners to be appointed under it yet transpired. The Governor's Message pretty distinctly insinuated that the commissions on the subject had already cost more than all the disputed land is worth, and so, possibly, for blessed economy's sake, it may be thought best to let the bill die.

There was a good deal of fillibustering in the House this morning. When the Engrossing Committee reported the Tunnel Removal and the Seventh-avenue Railroad bills as engrossed, Mr. LAW moved that they now have their third reading. Mr. OPDYKE rose to a point of order—they had been engrossed out of their order. The Speaker ruled that the point was well taken. Soon after a little bill which had scarcely got its growth was read. Mr. CONKLING raised the same point, and saying that several which were of maturer age, and had been reported for a week, had not been engrossed, moved a Committee of Investigation to learn if the facts were correctly stated, and if so, by what influences, and the quo modo. Instead of granting this request, and so giving useful information to the House which may be of use to future members, the resolution was tabled by a vote of thirty-seven to fifty something. But the eyes of the House were opened, notwithstanding. The explanation made by the Clerk of these anomalies in the order of third readings, is this: Every bill is sent to the Engrossing Clerks in the order of its report from Committee of the Whole or Completing Committee. A long bill, of course, may take so much time in the engrossing that half a dozen short bills may come back and be reported "engrossed" in advance of it. But if a gentleman is exceedingly anxious, and sees fit to pay a man to sit up all night and engross his bill, the Clerk makes no objection. Then when it comes back it goes to the Engrossing Committee—and hence the City Railroads last night reported are ready by noon to day ahead of a hundred that were reported before them. Opinions may differ as to how strictly this custom may conform to the provisions of the 9th joint rule, to wit: "All bills shall have their last reading in each House in the order in which the same shall have been ordered to a final reading in such House, unless the bill to be read be laid on the table."

The City Hall Amendment bill passed the Assembly, where it originated, this morning. It contemplates the expenditure of $1,000,000 instead of $250,000, as by the law of 1858. Mr. JOHN B. CORLISS, (Republican,) and WILSON G. HUNT, (Democrat,) are the two Commissioners, and it is not necessary to tip the political scale by adding a third. The Commissioners intend to urge the General Government to put up a building for the United States Courts, Post-Office, &c., on the Park, facing Chambers-street, in which case the new City Hall, for City Courts and offices, will be erected with a Broadway front on the Park, and in the rear of the old City Hall. But, if the United States declines to go into the arrangement, the Commissioners will make their building occupy the Chambers-street front of the Park. They hope if this bill is speedily made a law to know from Uncle Sam within one month definitely what his pleasure is.

Will the seventeen thousand correspondents of Glaucus and of his friends, the members, please take notice that the Assembly joint resolution to furnish members and reporters with extra copies of the Red Book was smashed in the Senate? Hence, to ask a Reporter or a Member for a Red Book is equivalent to asking if he will please give him a dollar—for that is the wholesale price which said reporter or member must pay for each copy that he designs to give away.

Senator WETMORE is in his seat and voting.

Decision of the Court of Appeals in the Case of the Old Police Force—Opposition to the Proposed New Charter, &c.

ALBANY, Wednesday, April 6.

The Court of Appeals this morning rendered a decision in the case of the Old Police force of New-York.

There are three written opinions. Judges GRAY and STRONG submit opinions in favor of the Old Police, declaring their discharge by the Metropolitan Police Commissioners illegal and void.

The Judges concurring in the above opinions are COMSTOCK, SELDEN and ALLEN.

Judge JOHNSON delivers a dissenting opinion, in which Judges DENIO and GROVER concur.

The Governor sent to the Senate to-day the following names as Port Wardens: JARED V. PECK, of Westchester; BENJAMIN HUTCHISON, of Brooklyn; and W. H. BURLEIGH.

Dr. GUNN was confirmed as Health Officer, by 28 to 4. Mr. JEROME was confirmed by a similar vote. The negative votes were cast by Senators Brandreth, Doherty, Scott and Wheeler.

The opposition to the proposed new Charter for New York City is becoming quite formidable. Besides the Committee of the New-York City Councils, there is also here a delegation, with a heavily signed remonstrance, from some of the most prominent citizens of all shades of politics in New-York.

The main objection of these parties is to that section of the bill, which, in express terms, continues in office until January, 1863, the present incumbents severally of the Law Department, Street Department, and Croton Aqueduct Board, together with the City Chamberlain.

The presence of this section in the new charter is believed to have been the result of a political bargain, got up between certain Republicans, Americans and Democrats, for the express and sole purpose of benefiting the incumbents referred to. Hence the formidable opposition.

NEW-YORK LEGISLATURE.

After debate, the resolutions were adopted by 22 to 6, Mr. WETMORE casting his first vote in the affirmative.

The Senate afternoon session was consumed by discussion of the Registry law.

Mr. Reilly moved to reconsider the vote. Tabled.

The City Railroad bills being reported correctly engrossed, Mr. Law moved they now be read a third time.

Mr. Odpyke raised the point of order that the Committee on Engrossed bills had violated the rule in reporting them out of turn.

The Speaker ruled the point of order well taken.

The bills were then laid over.

The Fugitive Slave Case at Philadelphia.

THE UNITED STATES COMMISSIONER REQUESTED TO WITHDRAW—INCREASED EXCITEMENT.

The Philadelphia North American of yesterday says:

"The fugitive spent the night in custody of the Deputy Marshals Jenkins and Stewart. Every kindness that could be extended to Daniel has been liberally bestowed upon him. He seemed cheerful yesterday, and entertained his custodians by voluntarily singing some racy negro melodies. He expresses the warmest gratitude to Marshal Jenkins for his care of him, and for the provision of all the substantials afforded by the market. The whole manner of the fugitive yesterday appeared changed, though whether from hope or resignation is more than we can say. We understand that United States Marshal Yost announced an offer to test the philanthropy of the avowed sympathizers with the refugee, to subscribe $250 toward the liberation of Daniel if he were remanded by the Commissioner, in case the remaining sums be contributed by them."

The Press says: Mr. Hopper rose, in opening, and made a personal explanation. He had come into this case by an accident. He had come here for the purpose of doing his duty, and had performed his humble portion of professional duty with as much faithfulness as was possible. He would remain until the close of this case a simple spectator; but, before retiring, he wanted to make one remark in relation to the evidence that had appeared in the proceedings of the case, as reported in yesterday's paper. It would be seen by such reference that the Commissioner, who now presides as a judge over these proceedings, had been acting as an attorney and advocate before assuming the position of judge. Whatever had led to this superserviceable action on the part of the Commissioner, he attributed it only to inexperience and hasty judgment. In view of this circumstance—a circumstance he would not comment on at any length—he felt justified in asking that the Commissioner should retire from this cause. He did not want to make this thing a public matter; he had hesitated long about mentioning it in public, and, in view of this, he had made a private appeal to the presiding officer before entering upon the hearing of the case to-day. What that appeal had resulted in he would not say, but he would ask, in view of it all, that the Commissioner should retire.

Commissioner Longstreth observed that he conceived the best evidence was that shown to him, and he felt that on that evidence the warrant was legal. Nothing had appeared in evidence to warrant his withdrawal from the case, and accordingly he overruled the motion.

Sharp sparring took place between the opposing counsel on the question of the examination of witnesses in private. During the day, United States Marshal Jenkins, who arrested the fugitive Daniel in Harrisburgh, was called as a witness. He testified that he went armed to make the arrest, and would have fired upon the mob, had a rescue been attempted. The proceedings in Court had not been concluded at 2 A. M.

[BY TELEGRAPH.]

DECISION OF THE COMMISSIONER DISCHARGING THE PRISONER.

PHILADELPHIA, Wednesday, April 6.

The evidence to show that the alleged fugitive slave, Daniel Webster, confessed to the officers who conveyed him to the city and others, that this was his first visit to Philadelphia, was admitted after a long argument by counsel. This testimony completely overthrew the most important evidence of the defence At midnight the evidence closed and counsel summed up the case, occupying six hours. The Commissioner reserved his decision until this afternoon.

The Court House was crowded this afternoon to hear the decision of Commissioner Longstreth. Crowds of whites and blacks were also gathered outside.

The Commissioner said his duty as an officer was a plain and simple one, laid down by law. He discountenanced all attempts of counsel to appeal to private sympathies. At an early stage of the case, he was satisfied that it was intended more as a show-case, but he believed in the largest liberty of speech. After explaining his connection with the case before the arrest of the fugitive, which was merely in accordance with the law, he said there were three things to be proven by the claimant, to wit: debt of labor, the escape of the slave, and his identity. He reviewed the testimony on both sides, and believed that the first two points were satisfactorily proven. He disagreed with the counsel of the claimant on the matter of the time of the escape. It was material in this case, and is evidence that the claimant says that the escape was made in November, 1854, while it was proven that Daniel was in Harrisburgh at least in the Winter of 1853, or the Spring of 1854. The power of attorney was also defective. In the point of the height of the negro there was a difference of three inches. He confessed he was not satisfied with the point of identity. The prisoner was discharged.

The decision was greeted with immense applause. It was somewhat unexpected from the tenor of the opening remarks of the Commissioner. Daniel was carried on the shoulders of his friends through the streets and a large crowd, intense excitement prevailing in the city. The Abolitionists propose a public celebration.

Commissioners of Emigration.

NEW ROOMS—EMIGRANT RUNNERS—REPAIRS TO CASTLE GARDEN, &C.

The Commissioners of Emigration met yesterday afternoon in their new rooms at Castle Garden. The apartments, which have previously been described, were very neatly fitted up and in every respect are superior to those which the Commissioners have heretofore occupied in Worth-street. Of ex-Commissioners there were present Capt. C. H. Marshall, Geo. W. Blunt, Esq., R. Garrigue and Jas. Kelly, Receiver of Taxes. After the Board had been called to order, Mr. Purdy said he thought a written report should have been presented by the Castle Garden Committee with reference to licensing runners, so that something definite with reference to the action which had been taken might be upon record.

Mr. Carrigan said that omission could easily be made good. The Committee had determined to recognize licensing 50 runners to solicit, and 5 steamboats to land passengers.

The Clerk read the following resolution:

Resolved, That the Vice-President be authorized to issue licenses to runners, in number not exceeding fifty, for soliciting emigrant passengers, and steamboats in number not exceeding five, for landing emigrant passengers, as contemplated by the law of April, 1857, and in accordance with the requirements of said act.

Mr. Purdy moved to amend by inserting "the Castle Garden Committee and the Mayors of New-York and Brooklyn" after the "Vice President."

After some desultory conversation, the resolution, as amended, was adopted.

Commissioner Jellinghaus offered the following preamble and resolutions:

Whereas, It has been found that the main building and the roof thereof, in Castle Garden, are in a somewhat dilapidated condition, although, in the opinion of architects and builders, no cause of apprehension as to safety from any part of said building or roof exists; therefore,

Resolved, That an estimate be made by a competent architect as to the amount of repairs requisite to be made to said roof and building, and the same be submitted to the Board at the next meeting.

The resolution was referred to the Committee on Castle Garden.

According to the weekly statement which was submitted, it appears that 981 emigrants arrived during the week ending April 6 making a total for the year of 7,163, against 8,018 to the same date last year. There are 932 inmates in the institution on Ward's Island, and 50 in the Marine Hospital; $39,883 23 have been disbursed and $21,415 16 received, showing an overdraft of $18,468 09.

After the Board had adjourned, a collation was served up in the adjoining room. Captain Marshall, James Kelly, Esq., and Captain Pillsbury, made a few remarks in reply to or in proposing toasts. The collation was given by Captain Crabtree, the Vice-President, on their removal to the new rooms.

Mr. Dempster's Concert.—To-night, for the first time, Mr. Dempster will sing his new cantata of "The Princess," the poetry of which is by Tennyson. Other selections from Mr. Dempster's compositions will make up the programme. The Concert will take place at Dodworth's Hall.

CITY INTELLIGENCE.

Dr. Cheever on the Word of God Against Slavery.—The large Hall of the Cooper Institute was almost filled to its capacity last night, in response to a call signed by many of our most prominent citizens, inviting the Rev. Dr. Cheever to redeliver his celebrated lecture on the "Logic of the Word of God against Slavery and Man-stealing." The meeting was called to order by Mr. Horace Greeley, who introduced Dr. Cheever. The Rev. gentleman spoke for nearly two hours, treating his subject under five heads. 1. That American Slavery is an iniquity viewed upon the grounds of the common law. 2. That it is precisely the same in the States of the Union as that which we denounce as piracy on the seas. 3. That Slavery in this country is the cause of the Slave-trade in Africa. 4. That there is no possibility of putting an end to the Slave-trade, except by the annihilation of Slavery itself. 5. That the highest responsibility lies on the Church and the Ministry to proclaim and apply God's word in reprobation of the sin of Slavery. The Rev. lecturer was frequently and earnestly applauded during his emphatic discourse, and, at its close, on the motion of Mr. Greeley, he was invited, by acclamation, to deliver another lecture on a kindred subject on Monday evening next.

A New Way to Collect Old Debts.—On the complaint made by Miss Anna Furlong, who keeps a millinery establishment at No. 29 Clinton-place, before Justice Welsh yesterday, Wm. C. Kelly was arrested and held to bail on a charge of annoying her, and of injuring her business and good name among her neighbors. She made an affidavit that Kelly, who is employed by Henderson & Co., of the Protective Trade and Collection Agency, was in the habit daily of driving up and stopping in front of her establishment an old and dilapidated vehicle, drawn by a poor and half-famished-looking old horse, there being painted conspicuously on either side of the vehicle, "Grocery bills, tailors' and store bills collected by Henderson & Co." The object of the demonstration being, as she alleges, to collect a debt from a person who has no interest in the establishment. The case will be heard on Monday next.

Ticket Swindling and Hotel Extortion.—Henry Brandt, a Texan planter, who arrived in this city on Tuesday on his way to Bremen, was induced by a runner to stop at a hotel in Liberty-st., where he was charged $12 for one day's board. He was then taken to a ticket office, where they sold him a ticket to Liverpool instead of Bremen, for which he was charged $54, instead of $18. Leaving the office he was put into a small boat and rowed to a bark instead of the Bremen steamer, for which service the boatman charged him $14, and threatened to throw him overboard if he did not pay it. He paid the charge, went on board the bark, and was subsequently returned to the city, when he made a complaint before Justice Welsh, and Selover, the man who sold him the ticket, was compelled to exchange it for a ticket for the Bremen steamer. The others were not found.

The City Dispensaries.—The monthly report of the City Dispensaries for the month of March shows that the number of male patients received into the five different institutions was 4,668, and the number of females 6,584, making a total of 11,252. The number of patients treated at their dwellings during the same month was 2,294. The number of children admitted was 4,018, and the number of adults 7,233. The number of native patients was 4,188, and the number of those of foreign birth 6,527. During the same period 24,930 prescriptions were dispensed, and 82 deaths occurred. The prevailing diseases chiefly affected the respiratory system. The principal causes of death were phthisis, pneumonia and marasmus.

A Stage and Horses Run Off a Ferry-dock.—A singular stage accident occurred yesterday. The driver of a Grand-street and Dry Dock stage left his omnibus with horses attached, standing at the corner of Tenth-street and Avenue C. One of the horses in rubbing his head against a lamp-post, loosened the bridle from his head, and taking fright, started to run. Both horses ran down the street in a direct line for Greenpoint Ferry. The ferry-gate happened to be open, and the horses dashed through, crossed the bridge, and leaped into the river. Both horses were drowned. The omnibus was afterwards recovered and had sustained but slight injury.

Accidentally Drowned.—As the steamboat Traveler, bound for New-Haven, was leaving her berth near the Peck-slip Ferry, at 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon, an unknown young man who was on board taking leave of some friends, attempted to jump from the steamer to the pier, but missed his footing and fell into the water. Every effort was made to save him, but without avail, and he was drowned. His body was recovered by some boatmen, and taken to the Second Ward Station-house, where an inquest will be held to-day.

The New Granadian Sugar-Cane.—Messrs. D. T. Lanman & Kemp have received from Barranquilla, N. G., a bundle of the hardy sugar-cane peculiar to that part of South America. This plant is said to yield twenty-five years before requiring renewal. The importers design presenting shoots of this Cane, gratuitously, to any planters in the South who will apply for them, for the purpose of testing the properties of the plant.

Drowned in Attempting to Jump on Board a Steamboat.—An unknown man was drowned yesterday in attempting to jump on board the New-Haven steamboat Traveler, as she left the dock. His body was recovered and taken to the Second Ward Station house. He appeared to be about 35 years of age, of medium height, black hair, brownish whiskers, full face, and very respectably dressed.

Fire in Norfolk-street.—At 1 o'clock this morning a fire occurred in the tenement-house, No. 154 Norfolk-street. It was confined to the apartments of Wm. Myers, in the third floor. His loss was $200, and uninsured. The damage to the building, owned by the Rev. Dr. Vermilyea, was also $200, which is covered by insurance.

The Child's Nursery.—The proprietors of the Sunday Atlas request us to state on their behalf that they persist in the statements of their last number in regard to alleged misconduct on the part of the managers of this institution, notwithstanding their denial of its truth which we have already published.

Board of Currency.—At the monthly meeting of this Board last evening at Clinton Hall, Charles H. Carroll, Esq., of Boston, read a paper upon the subject of the "Currency in its Relations to Trade," and advocating the adoption of a specie circulation, and the abolition of credit. Resolutions were adopted asking the Legislature to abolish the Usury laws.

Historical Lectures.—The Rev. John Lord will deliver the first of a course of six lectures on "The Great Representatives of Modern Civilization," in Clinton Hall, this evening. The subject of his first lecture will be "Columbus—Maritime Discoveries."

Poisoning.—A girl named Margaret McGinn, was taken to the City Prison on Tuesday evening, while suffering from the effects of poison which, she alleges, was given her by a female who occupied the same cell with her in the Tenth Ward Station-house, on the previous night. It is thought she will recover.

Fire in Front-street.—The alarm of fire at 12½ P. M. yesterday for the Eighth district proceeded from a fire in the smoke-house of Messrs. McDonold & Bros. No. 17 Front-street. The damage did not exceed $200 and is covered by insurance.

Sailor Drowned.—During the gale on Monday, Solomon Reeves, a sailor on board the schooner Undine, fell from the bowsprit and was drowned. His body was recovered.

The Old Police.—There was general rejoicing among the members of the old Police force, yesterday, in consequence of the reported decision of the Court of Appeals in their favor.

Fire in a Junk Shop.—At a few minutes to 1 yesterday morning a fire was discovered in the junk shop of Dennis Murphy, No. 336 West Forty-fourth-street. The damage was about $50 and was uninsured.

Military Parade.—The right wing of the Fifty-fifth Regiment, consisting of the State Guard City Guard and Swiss Guard, is announced for parade on Tuesday, the 19th inst.

Police Reports.

An Extortionate Landlord and Dangerous Barkeeper.—The Farmer's Hotel, in Cedar-street, formed the basis of ten complaints on Tuesday before Justice Welsh, at the City Hall Police Court. Dennis Flynn, a well dressed and intelligent Irishman, was the first complainant. He alleged that an uncle of his, on his arrival two days since in the City, stopped at the Farmer's Hotel, took two meals and a lodging, and was compelled to pay $5. The uncle paid the amount. Determined to recover the extortionate charge, Flynn yesterday went to the hotel, and upon making known his business had a pistol pointed at his head by Charles Robert, the bar-tender, with the intimation that he would shoot if he did not leave and mind his own business. Robert is now confined in the Tombs to await an examination upon a complaint of threatening to kill. Several Irishmen, lately arrived from the country, who, with their families, had been stopping at the same hotel, complained of having been compelled to pay twice the amount agreed upon. Justice Welsh obliged the landlord to refund what he had taken illegally.

Mock Auction Sales.—Mr. Henry Walters and his wife, who live in Great Barrington, Mass., came to the City a few days since on a visit. Passing down Broadway to take a glimpse of the Battery, the cry of "going, going" was heard by Mrs. Walters. Presuming that an auction in the City was like an auction in the country—the place for cheap bargains—Mrs. W. suggested to her husband the propriety of entering the place. The husband acted upon the suggestion, bid $100 for a gold watch worth $150, gave the money to the cashier, and the watch to his wife. It was subsequently discovered that the watch was worth less than one-third the sum paid for it. Mr. Walters made a complaint before Justice Welsh, and the swindling auctioneer was arrested and held to answer.

Slung-shot.—A young man named George Taylor was Tuesday committed to the City Prison in default of $500 bail, to answer a charge of carrying a slung-shot. He confessed carrying the illegal weapon, but claimed that he did so to defend himself against some persons who had threatened to whip him.

Counterfeit Money.—Geo. Burns on Tuesday passed a $2 counterfeit bill on the New-Bedford Bank, Mass., at a grocery store in Eighth-avenue. Justice Quackenbush locked him up for trial.

Charge of Levying Black Mail.—A warrant was issued, yesterday, against William H. Johnson, an ex-Policeman, upon a charge of having extorted black mail from Susan Berry, the keeper of a disreputable house. Johnson has not yet been arrested.

Stealing Pantaloons.—Margaret Finn and Ann Ryan were committed, by Justice Welsh, yesterday, on a charge of having stolen fifteen pairs of pantaloons in a clothing store in Chambers-st.

BROOKLYN INTELLIGENCE.

The Charter Election.—The Charter Election, on Tuesday, resulted in the complete success of the Democratic party. They not only elected their candidates for Mayor, Comptroller, Auditor and Treasurer, but maintain their majority in the Board of Supervisors and Common Council. Fourteen of the twenty members of the former Board, representing the city, are Democrats, and ten of the nineteen Aldermen belong to the same party. The Opposition gain an Alderman in the First and another in the Seventeenth Ward, and lose one in the Eleventh Ward. The Comptroller, Auditor and Treasurer are also Democratic gains. The candidates running throughout the city, received a majority of over 3,000 each. Mayor Powell and Mr. Morse for Treasurer, received the largest majorities. The total vote cast is less than 21,000.

The Ridgewood Reservoir.—The Chief Engineer of the Water Works says the statement made the day before election as to the amount of damage to the Ridgewood Reservoir was much exaggerated. The action of the water upon the upper part of the walls, where it had never reached before, caused some slight damage. The water is now about eight feet deep in the Reservoir. The arrangements for celebrating the introduction of water are progressing as fast as possible. The fountain in City Hall Park will be completed the present week.

A Land-mark Gone.—Mr. T. G. Bergen, who has represented the town of New-Utrecht in the Kings County Board of Supervisors for the last quarter of a century, more or less, was defeated at an election in that town on Tuesday last. Wm. C. Cropsing was the successful candidate. He beat Mr. Bergen 39 votes.

Strike Among the Laborers on the Staten Island Railroad.—Some 60 Irish laborers, employed on the Staten Island Railway yesterday refused to work for the pay they were receiving unless a reduction of one hour was made in their day's work. They are required to work eleven hours per day. As serious difficulty was expected, an application was made at the Police head-quarters for a force of men to quell the disturbance. Sergeant Brevoort and twelve policemen were sent to the Island. The men were at work about three-quarters of a mile from Vanderbilt's Landing, or, rather, were congregated there, the work being at a stand-still—those who were willing to work being prevented from doing so through threats of the others. The officers at once arrested the ringleaders, three in number. As Officer Wilson was conveying one of the prisoners, named Bradley, away from the ground, an attempt was made to rescue him. In the struggle that ensued the officer was hit over the head with a stone and seriously injured. He succeeded, however, in retaining his prisoner, and took him before Justice Garrison, who temporarily committed him for examination. The other prisoners, on promising to retire peacefully from the ground, were released from custody. After quiet was entirely restored, and the requisite number of men were set to work again, the officers returned to the City.

To Dealers in and Importers of Goodyear's Vulcanized Elastic Woven Rubber Fabrics.—The public who have so long been suffering under the illegal exactions of Horace H. Day, will be glad to learn that they can now make arrangements with me to supply themselves with these fabrics. Mr. Day has been infringing upon my rights by importing and selling these goods; and after a long trial, the questions at issue have been decided against him and in my favor by the United States Circuit Court, in New-York. The trade and the public, after this notice and caution, must abstain from violating my rights. It is necessary for my own protection, and therefore I shall proceed against future infringers in the most summary manner. I am the sole and exclusive owner of the right to make, import, use and sell all elastic woven vulcanized rubber goods and fabrics and of all other elastic vulcanized rubber fabrics, except suspenders, which the Nashawannuck Manufacturing Company have the exclusive license from me to make, use and vend, and except also shirred goods. All persons who make, or import, or sell, or use any of these goods are infringers, under the Patent Laws of the United States, and liable to severe penalties. After this full notice I shall make no settlements with those who infringe upon my rights, or buy or sell these goods. I shall go back to the beginning and compel them to pay me full damages for all goods which they have sold during the past six years, and I shall enjoin and prevent them from selling or using these goods for the future at all. No goods can be hereafter made, imported, sold or used legally, unless they have my stamp upon every article, and in this way the trade and the public will know that they are purchasing of authorized dealers, and that they will be protected. I am ready to make immediate arrangements on the most liberal terms with the trade generally, and with dealers in and the manufacturers of these fabrics.

"I HAVE KILLED ENOUGH"

These, according to the Medical Monthly Review, were the words used by Dr. Mott, of New-York, in the Green and Whitney controversy. Let this candid avowal be remembered. It is a confession that even the Napoleons of the profession do sometimes send people into eternity. Should not such an admission induce the thinking people to abandon a system through which murderous mistakes are liable to occur, for methods of cure founded upon solid and real scientific principles, and which, like mathematical calculations, always produce the same results. Radway's three remedies—the Ready Relief, the Regulating Pills, and the Resolvent—possess curative properties that are inestimable and invariable. They cure everybody who resorts to them in time; they kill nobody. From all points of the compass we hear of the most astonishing cures of Billious Fever, Intermittent Fever, Nervous Fever, Typhoid Fever, and all diseases caused by malaria, under the operation of Radway's Ready Relief and Radway's Regulating Pills. One case is but the duplicate of another. These medicines act with a precision and uniformity which prove that they are positive and absolute antidotes, against which no form of Fever can make any headway. Surely this is a great and hitherto unattained triumph of genuine medical science.

There is no pain so excruciating, either Rheumatic, Neuralgic, Acute or Chronic, but that is instantly mitigated by the Ready Relief. You cannot be sick, you will suffer from no pain, aches, or other infirmities, if you will use Radway's Ready Relief and Regulating Pills. Price of these remedies are 25 cents, 50 cents and $1 per bottle. Pills 25 cents per box.

WIBOR'S COD LIVER OIL AND LIME.

☞ In New-York consumption carries off on an average 230 persons monthly, or a general aggregate of about 2,700 for twelve months.—Saturday Evening Gazette.

Is it not important, when this startling fact is realized, that such a specific as WILBOR'S COMPOUND OF COD LIVER OIL AND LIME, should be thoroughly known to all? This article, now regularly prescribed by the medical faculty, has performed most miraculous cures in those suffering from consumption. The chemical properties of the Phosphate of Lime are well known in medicine, as supplying the necessary ingredients for reproducing cells, and healing the lungs when ulcerated. Added to the all-powerful properties of Cod Liver Oil, a mixture is thus produced that has proved a blessing indeed to the consumptive. Another advantage which this preparation possesses over the plain Cod Liver Oil is that the unpleasant taste is entirely removed, and the medicine rendered pleasant and palatable to the most delicate taste. For sale by ALEX. B. WILBOR, Chemist, No. 166 Court-st., Boston. In New-York by J. MILHAU & CO., No. 183 Broadway, and BARNES & PARK.

PRIVATE CONSULTATION.—Dr. HUNTER has for thirty years confined his attention to diseases of a certain class, in which he has treated not less than fifty thousand cases, without an instance of failure. and including, also, all and singular the lots, land and real estate whatsoever which the said Company owned, or might thereafter acquire by purchase, grant, gift or otherwise, in the cities of Milwaukee and La Crosse or in the vicinity of either of said cities, and all improvements made or thereafter to be made thereon, and all rights of dockage and wharfage, and all other riparian rights and privileges and franchises appertaining thereto as particularly described in the various deeds of the same to said Company; and, also, all and singular the superstructure of said Railroads, whether then made and constructed, or thereafter to be constructed, and all the engine-houses, workshops, depôts and other buildings, and all other improvements on, or appertaining to said Railroads, built or thereafter to be built and constructed; and, also, all and singular the locomotive engines and other rolling stock, and all the other equipments of every kind and description procured, or thereafter to be procured for, or used on said Railroads, and all the materials, tools, implements and utensils, and other personal property procured, or thereafter to be procured for, or used in connection with, said Railroads; and also all and singular the bonds, bills of exchange, promissory notes, accounts, causes of action, demands and choses in action of whatsoever nature, owned wholly or in part by said Railroad Company, on such day as the said Railroad Company might first make default in the payment of the principal or interest which might thereafter become due on any of the said bonds issued by said Company under said trust deeds or mortgages; and all the property, real, personal and mixed, of said Railroad Company then acquired and vested, or thereafter to be acquired and vested, together with all the rights, liberties, privileges and franchises of said Railroad Company as fully and amply as if said railroads had been entirely built, constructed and equipped, and the particular lands granted by the foregoing Acts of Congress and the Legislature of the State of Wisconsin fully designated and duly patented and conveyed to said Railroad Company, according to the provisions of the said Acts—were conveyed to the undersigned to be held by him in trust for and as security to the bondholders of said Company for the payment of the said bonds with the interest thereon secured by said Mortgage Deeds.

And whereas, by said Trust or Mortgage Deeds, it was provided that if said Railroad Company should make default for the space of fifteen days in the payment of any of the interest warrants or coupons accompanying the said bonds as they respectively became due, or if default for the like period should be made in the payment at maturity, of the principal sum of money mentioned in any of the said bonds secured by said Mortgage Deeds; then, and in either of said cases, the undersigned, as Trustee, was authorized, in his discretion, to enter into and take possession of all and singular the Railroads and all the other property, real, personal and mixed, covered or conveyed, or intended to be covered or conveyed, by said trust deeds, with all the rights, liberties, privileges and franchises of said Company, and to take and receive the income and profits thereof, and to sell all and singular said Railroads and said other property, real, personal and mixed, with all the rights, liberties, privileges and franchises of said Railroad Company, covered and conveyed, or intended to be covered or conveyed, by said mortgage deeds, either at public or private sale; and, also, that on the written request of the holder or holders of said bonds then outstanding to the amount, in the aggregate, of one hundred thousand dollars, the undersigned should proceed to make such sales and conveyances for the purpose of paying the outstanding bonds and the interest thereon; but in case of any sale at auction, it was provided that notice of such intended sale should be published once in each week for three weeks at the least, in two newspapers published in the City of New-York, and in a newspaper published in the City of Milwaukee; and that on such sale the undersigned should execute and deliver to the purchaser or purchasers, deeds and conveyances which should vest in such purchaser or purchasers all the estate, right, title and interest, whether legal or equitable, of the undersigned Trustee, and said Railroad Company of, in, and to, the said property, rights, liberties, privileges and franchises, and every part and parcel thereof.

And whereas, the interest that became due on the 1st day of January, 1859, upon all of the bonds issued by said Company, secured by the Mortgage Deeds aforesaid, amounting to the sum of about one hundred and forty thousand dollars, was not paid by said Company, when it became due, and said Company having made default in such payment for the space of more than fifteen days; and whereas also holders of said outstanding bonds, amounting in the aggregate to the sum of over one hundred thousand dollars, have duly requested, in writing, in compliance with said Mortgage Deeds, that the undersigned should proceed to make such sales and conveyances as aforesaid:

Now, therefore, notice is hereby given, that in pursuance of the authority vested in the undersigned by said Mortgage Deeds, I shall expose for sale at auction, to the highest bidder, in conformity to law, at the Court-House in the City of Milwaukee, in said State, on the 19th day of March, A.D., 1859, at 12 o'clock M. of that day, all and singular, the said Railroads, and real, personal and other property, of whatsoever nature, covered by said Trust Deeds, together with all the said rights, privileges and franchises appertaining thereto, and also all the corporate and other rights, privileges and franchises of said La Crosse and Milwaukee Railroad Company; or which may be included in, covered or conveyed, or intended to be covered or conveyed by said Mortgage Deeds, in order to pay the said outstanding bonds and interest, and the costs and expenses of this sale.

BOARD OF COUNCILMEN.

Communication from the Mayor—Infringements on Municipal Rights by the Proposed New Charter.

The Board met last evening according to adjournment, it being understood that the Mayor desired to make a communication of importance with reference to the proposed alterations in the City Charter. After the reading of the minutes, the following communication from his Honor was received:

MAYOR'S OFFICE, New-York, April 6, 1859.

To the Common Council of the City of New-York:

GENTLEMEN: As the Chief Executive Officer of this City, I deem it my duty to call your attention to a bill which, as appears by the published proceedings of the Assembly of this State, was reported by a majority of the Committee on the Incorporation of Cities and Villages, and after reference to a Special Committee, has been reported with amendments, complete, for the action of the House of Assembly.

The proposed bill is entitled "An act to define and prescribe certain powers, duties, terms of office and emoluments of the Municipal Government of the Corporation of the City of New-York."

This bill, as now before the Assembly, proposes most important changes in the Charter of the City. It has been introduced into the Legislature without any petition from any of the constituted authorities of the City or of its citizens and without even the public notice which is required by law for the amendment of the humblest Corporation of the State.

I deem it proper to present to you, as a co-ordinate branch of the City government, my views on this proposed legislation, and to call your attention and that of the public thereto, in order that all proper measures may be taken to prevent the enactment of a law which, in my judgment, involves an unwarrantable invasion on the part of the Legislature of the municipal rights of this City, and which is alike repugnant to the spirit of the Constitution of the State and to all sound principles of Republican government.

With deep concern the people observed the gradual steps taken by the Legislature of the State to wrest from this City those rights and franchises, as a municipal corporation, which have been guaranteed to its inhabitants by its charters, anterior to the formation of our State government and the constitution of the State. It is not two years since important changes were made by the Legislature in the organic laws of this City, and it is now proposed to make other changes, which in my judgment are by no means acceptable to any considerable portion of our fellow citizens.

That the government of this City is defective, and that various evils are the consequent result, no one will pretend to deny; but the proposed bill, so far from improving the system and providing remedies for present defects and evils, will rather tend to aggravate than to correct them.

Any charter for the government of this City should assimilate, as far as possible, to the provisions of the Constitution of the United States and of the State. There should be a perfect division between the powers of the legislative and the executive branches of the government. The legislative branch of the City Government should be elected by the people of the City, and should alone have the power to make appropriations and to authorize expenditures for municipal purposes.

To the legislative department of the City should exclusively belong the high responsibility of deciding how much should be taken from the industry of the people for the purposes of conducting our City government. The legislative branch should determine what amount should be raised for public charities, police, and for all other municipal purposes. While it is proper that the sanction of the Legislature of the State should be necessary for the raising of money by taxation, or the incurring of public debt, the State should not authorize expenditures for purely municipal purposes, without the previous action of the legislative branch of the City government. A great part of this authority is now committed to various commissioners, created by the laws of the State, independent in all respects of the Common Council. This divided responsibility has tended to increase enormously the expenses of the City. In my last annual Message to the Common Council, I fully set forth the much larger proportionate increase in the classes of expenditure under the control of these commissions than in those under the control of the City Government. Millions are expended by the Commissioners of Police, by the Governors of the Almshouse, and the Board of Education, over which the Mayor and Common Council have no control. To the legislative body should belong the power to decide for what purposes the public revenues raised by taxation should be expended. And after any specific work has been authorized by the legislative branch, the execution of that work should be left to the executive departments, with whose functions the legislative department should not be permitted to interfere.

The same absence of all unity and direct responsibility to any common head which has existed in respect to the legislative branch of the City Government, has also existed in respect to the Executive department. The Mayor, the nominal head of the Executive branch of the City Government has no direct control over any of those departments, whether elected or appointed; once in office they are independent of the Mayor. By the present law the Mayor and Board of Aldermen, together, can, for cause, remove certain of the heads of departments.

By the bill now before the Legislature the power of removing any head of department, in any case, or for any cause, is absolutely abolished.

Thus, the heads of departments are each rendered independent.

The heads of Executive departments should be nominated by the Mayor, and confirmed by one branch of the legislative power. The power should be given to the Mayor of removing any head of an Executive department, except only that of Comptroller, the duties of whose office should be such, and such only, as would enable his department to act as a check on the other departments. The chief executive officer of the City should be clothed with such authority as would give unity and efficiency to the whole system of municipal government.

The bill which is now before the Assembly, in my judgment is in most of its provisions directly opposed to the principles to which I have referred. It proposes in the first place to abolish the present Executive Department known as the "Governors of the Almshouse," after the first day of July next, and to substitute in its place six Commissioners, to be appointed by the Board of Supervisors. As originally reported, the Mayor was to nominate these Commissioners, and the Board of Supervisors to confirm or reject. As the bill now stands, the nomination is taken from the Mayor. The bill merely transfers all the authority now possessed by the Ten Governors to Commissioners, to be appointed by the Supervisors. It is a transfer of power from one set of public agents, elected for an express purpose, to another set, to be appointed by a body elected in the same manner as the officers removed. There is not an objection which can be urged against the present system or election of the Ten Governors which cannot with equal force be urged against the Board of Supervisors. It is justly and forcibly urged that the present system of electing both the Board of Ten Governors and the Supervisors is objectionable. It disregards the fundamental principle of all republican governments—that all persons elected to public office should receive a majority of the votes cast. The nomination of any individual by a convention of either of the great political parties insures an election. It thus gives to managers of political parties great power, and removes the salutary restraint which the necessity of securing a majority of the popular vote would otherwise impair. If any amendment is to be made in the organization of this department, it would be one by which all their accounts for expenditures should be audited and paid by the Finance Department.

Another alteration which is proposed by the bill is the abolishment of the Executive Department, known as the City Inspector's Department.

As a substitute, it is proposed to organize a Department to be called the Bureau of Sanitary Inspection, and to transfer from the City Inspector's Department the cleaning of streets to the Croton Aqueduct Department, and the police and regulation of the markets to the Comptroller's Department. The Bureau of Sanitary Inspection is to be charged with the duty of attending to all matters affecting the public health of the City. The Chief of the Bureau must be a physician; he shall be appointed by the Mayor, and shall receive a salary of $3,000 per annum. He shall have three clerks, each to receive $1,000 per annum.

The organization of a department exclusively charged with supervision of the sanitary condition of the City is desirable; but in my judgment the cleaning of the streets, the removal of nuisances and the management of the markets, the renting of stalls, &c., involve an amount of attention to detail fully sufficient to justify the continuance of an independent department charged with those matters, should the City Inspector's Department be abolished. What justification can there be for transferring to the Finance Department, whose duty should be auditing and adjusting of accounts, the superintendence and regulation of the markets? These duties would, with more propriety, be transferred to the Sanitary Department.

I am aware that the proposed change is attempted to be justified by the neglect of the Board of Aldermen to comply with the requirements of the Charter of 1857, by rejecting or confirming the nomination of the Mayor of some person to fill the office of City Inspector, the term of office of the person heretofore elected to that Department having expired on the 31st day of December last. Whilst I regret the course pursued by the members of the Board, I cannot but feel that they are responsible for their action to their several constituencies alone. The duty which the Charter has devolved on me has been promptly discharged, and I have endeavored to avoid any state of things whereby the public health or interests might be in any manner affected. The refusal of the Board of Aldermen to act should not prompt the Legislature of the State to adopt a system which is well calculated to throw us into confusion, and to promote instead of relieving us from evils under which we may suffer.

The bill proposes that the Board shall have power to clean the streets by contract, by day's work, or otherwise, and to give to their subordinates in the department such compensation as they shall see fit. To me it appears this unrestricted power is very objectionable. The expense of cleaning our public streets can be reduced if done by contract. At the present time proposals have been made to me to clean the streets and remove offal for the sum of $200,000 per annum, for five years—the contract to be guaranteed by citizens of undoubted integrity and means. The executive department, known as the Board of Health, now consists of the members of the Board of Aldermen and of the Board of Councilmen and the Mayor. As its functions are mainly executive, it is not in accordance with sound principles that the persons comprising the legislative branch of the City Government should also act as an executive Department. The reorganization of this Department is in the main judicious, and well calculated to insure beneficial results. It should, however, be provided that the head of the Sanitary Department should be a member of the Board.

The bill also proposes to transfer to the Finance Department the collection of assessments, and for that purpose it is proposed to create a new bureau in that department for the collection of assessments, with a collector, four deputies, two book-keepers and two messengers. This bureau shall have the collection of all assessments confirmed according to law. The bill legislates out of office the present incumbents who are now empowered to collect assessments, and gives the Comptroller the appointment of the new officers.

The intention of all our charters has been to give the Comptroller power to adjust and audit all claims against the City. Under our present charter all moneys from the City Treasury must be drawn in vouchers, to be examined by the Auditor and approved by the Comptroller. To him properly belongs the duty of negotiating the loans made by the City. To these responsible duties I have already suggested the propriety of giving that officer the supervision of moneys expended by the Ten Governors, and, I would also add, the authority to audit, adjust and pay all the expenditures of the Board of Education. To his department should be assigned the final adjustment of accounts relating to the receipts and expenditures made by any of the departments of the City Government. Whilst I am thus prepared to confer additional and appropriate powers on the Finance Department, I cannot concur in the proposed transfer of the Bureau of Collection of Assessments. The collection of all public moneys should be entrusted to agents appointed by the Mayor or heads of departments, independent of the Comptroller, and the law should give the Comptroller such an effective supervision of these accounts of such officers as will lead to the immediate detection of any misappropriation of the public funds. The system of keeping the books of the bureau and of making returns now established in the Bureau of Collection of Assessments will render impossible the recurrence of the abuses which existed in this bureau prior to the appointment of the present incumbents, involving the abstraction of public money of over $200,000.

It is now provided by ordinances that the collector shall in all cases give a receipt, with a notice printed conspicuously thereon, stating that on registering such receipt in the office of the Comptroller, the lien may be discharged.

If this registration were made obligatory by law before the claim of the City for any lien was discharged, and weekly returns, item by item, made, as at present, by the collectors to the Comptroller, the [illegible] would be complete, and any deficit would at once be detected. No reason is apparent why the collection of assessments should be transferred to the Finance Department, and the collection of Croton Water rents be allowed to remain in the Croton Water Board. The same principles are equally applicable to both.

I cannot but reiterate the views on this subject conveyed in my annual message, under date of Jan. 3, 1859, in which I stated that, in my opinion, "judicious system requires that the Bureau for the Collection of Public Moneys should not be in the Finance Department. All persons paying moneys to City officers should, however, be required to register such payments in the Finance Department, which would thus be enabled to detect at once any appropriation of public moneys by collecting officers; the Finance Department would then exercise the functions properly appertaining to it, and would be a check upon all the other departments. The salutary check of two independent departments upon each other would, in my opinion, lead to a salutary improvement in the collection and disbursement of the funds of the City."

To the provision in the bill which suggests a compensation to the members of the Common Council, a compensation not exceeding $600, I object on grounds which I have heretofore presented to the Common Council, when resolutions have been passed by them asking the Legislature to pass a law to authorize the payment of a certain annual sum to the members of the Board. The increase in the amount for salaries since 1850 has been from $200,000 to over $700,000. Instead of reducing, or even restraining, the expenditure of the City Government by this measure they would be increased, by paying a Common Council elected with a view to the reduction of the expenses of the Government, to pay its members for what the Charter prohibited on their entering upon their offices.

There is a proper provision of the bill that the consent of the Common Council shall not be necessary to confirm any contract.

The duty of the Common Council should end when it has ordered the work to be done, and has appropriated the money for its execution. To the proper executive department should belong the duty of entering into and executing contracts.

In the General and State Governments the Legislature decides on the work to be done, and the amount of appropriations to be expended by the proper department for such work. Who ever thought of asking Congress to confirm a contract made by the Navy Department for the building of vessels, or of machinery, by the War Department for supplies for the army? Who ever heard of contracts for making or repairing canals, or of any other work of the State being confirmed by the Legislature? Such duties are left to the executive branch of the government. They are under a solemn responsibility to those by whom they may be elected or appointed. The system thus far has worked with efficiency in the General Government, and can be with advantage adopted by the City. Contracts have been delayed for months in the hands of the Common Council. This delay has not only been a serious injury to the public interests, but has been oppressive on the contractors and others having lawful claims against the Common Council. It has also been one of the great causes of the charges of corruption brought against the Common Council. It seems to me that the Common Council, not only moved by considerations of public policy, but also by a desire to shield themselves from any suspicion, would cheerfully accede to the suggestion to be relieved of this unnecessary duty.

One of the provisions of the bill entirely deprives the Common Council of the legislative control of the departments. The 16th section provides that "no bureau, clerkship, office or place of subordinate trust, which shall exist at the passage of this act, shall be modified, abolished or changed by the Common Council of said City, unless the same has been asked for by the proper head of the department, by a written communication addressed to the Common Council." This action virtually annihilates the power of the representatives of the people, and transfers to subordinates the power of deciding what may be the public exigencies. It takes from those representatives charged with responsibility to the people not only the power of reducing the public expenses, but compels them to continue in office a swarm of officials, even although the necessity for their employment may have expired.

One of the sections of the bill is intended to convey the idea that the Mayor of the City shall have the power of appointing and removing at pleasure any head of the Executive Department; but a due examination of the whole act will show that but little power is given to the chief Executive officer. The power is given to the Mayor of appointing Inspectors and Sealers of Weights and Measures, and the Sanitary Inspector; but it expressly provides that the Mayor's power of appointment and removal as to heads of departments shall not be operative until the 1st day of January, 1863. Until that time, the persons holding the several offices of Street Commissioner, of the heads of the Croton Aqueduct Department, the head of the Law Department, the Chamberlain of the City, are to be continued in office. If any vacancy shall occur in the Croton Board, the vacancy shall be filled not on the nomination of the Mayor, but by the remaining officers of the Board. The heads of the departments may appoint and remove all deputies, chiefs of bureaus, clerks, and all persons holding offices under them. How, under such circumstances, can the Mayor be held responsible for the proper administration of the executive functions of the City Government?

The proposed extension of the term of these officers is questionable on the ground of expediency and constitutionality. One of the officers whose term is extended for three years holds an elective office, the term of which expires on the 31st day of December next. The other officers, whose terms of office are extended, hold their offices by appointment of the Mayor and Board of Aldermen. The article of the Constitution, which provides that all city and county officers shall be elected by the people or appointed by the local authorities of the city or county, will be violated by the adoption of the proposed legislation. The Legislature, by such proceedings, usurps an authority which does not belong to it. The theory of our Constitution rests on the popular intelligence—on the capacity of the people of the several localities to select their agents; and any attempt by a legislative body to remove from the people the power frequently to change their public servants and to transfer power from the local authorities to the State, will be frowned upon by an indignant community.

I have thus frankly stated to you the views I entertain in relation to the bill now before the Legislature of this State.

To you, as the peculiar guardians of the rights of the people of this City, I submit them, with the most perfect confidence that you will promptly take such measures as the public interests require in the premises. At the same time I convey to you my assurance that I shall be ready to coöperate with you in any proceeding which will secure the best interests of our constituents and the chartered rights of a City in whose prosperity the entire State and Confederacy are deeply interested.

DANIEL F. TIEMANN, Mayor.

After part of the communication had been read Councilman CORNELL moved that the further reading be dispensed with; that it be received, printed in document form, and a copy sent to each member of the Legislature. The motion was carried, but was afterwards reconsidered and the reading was proceeded with. After it had been completed Councilman LAIMBEER moved that it be laid on the table.

Councilman CORNELL, as an amendment, renewed his previous motion.

Councilman LAIMBEER said that there were many things in the Charter he objected to seriously. He thought it one of the most rascally combinations ever got up. Many things in the communication he opposed as well, but he would not vote for sending it to the Legislature when he did not know what was in it. He wished that it should be laid on the table and printed in the minutes.

Councilman CORNELL thought that course would be disrespectful to the Mayor.

Councilman CRAFT moved that the communication be referred to the Committee on Law.

Councilman LAIMBEER thought that very inappropriate; there was much more gospel than law in the paper.

The motion to lay on the table was lost by a vote of 11 to 6.

Councilman ALLEN made a motion to return it to the Mayor.

Councilman CORNELL hoped it would not be referred to the Committee on Law.

Councilman MCCARTY moved that the communication be received and printed in the minutes.

Councilman LENT moved as an amendment that the paper should be received and ordered on file; the President having stated that he understood the communication had already been sent to the principal papers, so that those members of the Board who were anxious to read it could have an opportunity. The motion was carried, and the Board adjourned until Monday evening.

Before Justice Roosevelt.

SUIT BY A DEAF MUTE.

N. Denton Wilkins and Nehemiah Denton vs. Louisa A. Denton.—This is a motion to set aside a judgment obtained by the plaintiffs. The plaintiff, Nehemiah Denton, is a deaf mute, and the defendant is his wife. The action is brought to set aside a conveyance of land, which it is charged the wife and her relatives fraudulently procured to be made to her as grantee, instead of to her husband, the real purchaser. The general facts of the case have been already reported in the Times on former proceedings.

The plaintiffs have procured a judgment that the conveyance in question be set aside, and the property be vested in trustees for Nehemiah Denton. This judgment the defendant moves to set aside. The motion is still on.

Henry A. Cram for the plaintiffs; J. V. Loomis for defendant.

NEW PHASE OF THE BOKER AND DEAN CASE.

Louis Funke vs. Henry Bertholf.—This is a motion to strike out certain portions of the answer of the defendant as frivolous and irrelevant. The action is brought to foreclose a mortgage. The mortgage was given by the defendant to John G. Boker, on a house in Fourteenth-street, and was to secure the sum of $3,000. It was assigned by Boker to the plaintiff.

It will be remembered that about two years ago, at the time of the marriage of a daughter of Mr. Boker to John Dean, Mr. Boker detained his daughter from her husband, who was obliged to procure a writ of habeas corpus in order to obtain possession of her. Pending the proceedings on the habeas corpus the young lady was by order of the Court placed in the family of Mr. Bertholf, who is one of the most trusted officers of the Supreme Court, as a special measure of protection until the questions arising on the writ of habeas corpus could be determined. The expenses of this arrangement were, it is said, to be borne by her father.

In his answer to the complaint on the mortgage, Mr. Bertholf now avers that Mrs. Boker agreed to pay him $100 per week for the board and care of the young lady under this arrangement, and that she remained in his charge twenty-five weeks; that no money has been paid him, and that the amount thus due, including interest, is more than enough to cover all his indebtedness on the mortgage.

The plaintiff moves to strike out these allegations as frivolous and immaterial. It is alleged in support of the motion that Mr. Boker has paid the defendant in full for his care of his daughter. The motion is still on argument.

Charles A. Peabody for the plaintiff; John W. Edmonds for the defendant.

THE MCKENZIE DIVORCE CASE.

McKenzie vs. McKenzie.—The following is the decision of the Court rendered this morning on the motion to allow the plaintiff to amend her complaint, by inserting additional charges against defendant.

ROOSEVELT, J.—The criminations and recriminations in this case are of such a character that there is no probability of their ever being reconciled. A complete, instead of a partial trial of all matters in dispute as soon as may be, is therefore desirable. An immediate amendment of the complaint instead of waiting the result of a doubtful motion at Circuit will contribute to that end.

The proposed amendment is allowed upon condition that plaintiff stipulates to permit any defence on the trial to the new matter charged, whether formally pleaded or not, as the defence may be advised.

William W. Bishop vs. Lewis J. Doyle, et al.—Motion for costs. Costs of motion, $10, only allowed.

Before Justice Clerke.

The Gebhard Insurance Company vs. Geo. Leeds et al. Motion denied with $10 costs to plaintiffs, defendant Whitely to pay the Referee's fees.

SUPERIOR COURT—GENERAL TERM.

Before Justices Bosworth, Woodruff and Hoffman.

SUIT BETWEEN MESSRS. PLACIDE AND BURTON.

Henry Placide vs. William E. Burton.—This action was originally brought up on a parole contract for the sum of $1,950.

This agreement was made on the 25th October, 1854, and is differently stated by the two parties. Placide says he was to play the alternate four weeks, whenever called upon, while Mr. Burton says the plaintiff was to play nightly during alternate four weeks, between Oct. 9, 1854 and June 1, 1855.

In 1857, April 16, the case was referred to Henry Nichols, Esq. The referee found that the engagement was to be that the plaintiff should, between Oct. 9, 1854, and June 1, 1855, perform, as actor, nightly, during four terms or periods of four weeks each, the commencement of each term to be fixed by defendant and notice thereof given to plaintiff. That prior to Oct. 9, 1854, defendant, at the request of plaintiff, modified the agreement, so that it was agreed that he, the plaintiff, should go to New-Orleans on Jan. 1, 1855, and remain absent until March 1, 1855. That at the end of the second week defendant accepted plaintiff's proposal that the term should be divided into periods of two weeks each, and that the plaintiff should discontinue then and return and play the remaining two weeks prior to 1st Jan., 1855. That plaintiff did not play, nor offer to play ever after at the Theatre. That defendant did not fix any time for the plaintiff's playing at said Theatre. That the services were worth $100 per week more than was agreed upon by the defendant.

Upon this report judgment was entered April, 1858, for the defendant—$200 damages and $478 63 costs.

From this judgment Mr. Placide appealed, and the case was argued to-day—decision reserved. N Dean Ellingwood for plaintiff; Henry A. Cram for defendant.

Before Justice Slosson.

TRIAL TERM.

Joseph T. Gilbert et al. vs. Thomas Beach.—This action is brought to recover $1 000 damages, alleged to have been suffered by the plaintiffs through the fault and negligence of the defendant. On Aug. 10, 1852, plaintiffs kept a store at No. 20 Cortlandt-street, New-York, and the defendant owned a similar store in Dey-street. Both were in an unfinished condition, and were separated at the back by a small yard eight feet across. The cellar of the plaintiffs was filled with goods. The defendant's house was unfinished, the water-pipe being cut short about 12 feet above the ground. On the date above mentioned a rain storm happened, flooding the cellar of the plaintiffs, and damaging their goods.

The defendant alleges that the possession was not in him at this time, but was in some builders who had contracted to put up the building.

The case was tried before, and the Jury at that time, May 4, 1854, returned a verdict of $225 for the plaintiffs, subject to the opinion of the General Term. The General Term dismissed the complaint, with costs of $136 21. The plaintiffs appealed to the Court of Appeals, and that Court reversed the decision of the General Term and ordered a new trial. Still on.

E. W. & G. F. Chester for the plaintiffs; Stephens & Parsons for the defendants.

SPECIAL TERM.

Before Justice Hoffman.

Margaret Britton, adm. &c. vs. The Harlem Railroad Company.—Order for commission with a stay, unless plaintiff's attorney stipulate that the evidence of the witness given on the former trial be read in evidence if offered by defendants. No costs in such case to either party.

James S. Derrickson vs. William Kain, &c.—Order for payment of the costs out of funds in hands of assignees.

COMMON PLEAS.—SPECIAL TERM.

Before Judge Brady.

Guy vs. Bliss.—Motion to vacate an order granting allowance.

BRADY, J.—The service of a notice of discontinuance after the defendant's appearance, may be regarded by him as a nullity, unless his costs are paid. (McKenster vs. Van Zandt, 1 Wen., 13; Huntington vs. Forkson, 7 Hill, 195; White vs. Sneeth, 4 Hill, 166; Morrison vs. Ide, 3 Code Rep., 27.)

If the defendant acts upon the discontinuance, then the only costs which follow are those that are granted in such cases. The defendant cannot regularly, therefore, predicate a motion to dismiss the complaint on a notice of discontinuance, received on a cause which is on the day calendar, and obtain an allowance. He waives his right to treat the notice as a nullity by accepting it, and the cause being at an end, no trial can be had. For these reasons, I think the order granting an allowance should be vacated, but without costs.

Before Justice Hilton.

Steinman vs. Clark.—Motion to strike out portions of an answer in an action of slander.

HILTON, J.—The matter complained of in the answer cannot be considered either irrelevant or redundant. It is asserted by the defendant in brief, that what she did say of the plaintiff was not from any malicious motives, but because she has been informed and believes that every charge contained in the complaint, alleged to be slanderous and uttered by the defendant, is true. That she had the property in the complaint referred to; that it was stolen from her, and she believes it was stolen by the plaintiff.

This would seem to be sufficiently definite to enable the plaintiff to understand the precise nature of the defence relied upon. It contains what may be considered a justification of the alleged slander, with mitigating circumstances tending to disprove malice; and, although the plaintiff may desire more particularity, yet I do not understand how she can be gratified.

Certainly, it will be a sufficient defence if the defendant proves a justification as full and as broad as the charge; and if she should fail in so doing, under the decisions in Bush vs. Prosser, 1 Kernan, 347, and Bisby vs. Shaw, 2 Id., 67, the evidence offered for the purpose may be relied on to disprove malice.

The answer seems to me sufficiently definite and certain to permit defences of the kind suggested, and is not open to the plaintiff's objection. (Code, Sec. 160.)

Motion denied, with $10 costs to defendant, to abide event.

CIRCUIT.

Before Justice Strong.

Sophia C. Lazell vs. the Chatham Bank.—This suit was brought by the plaintiff to recover from the Bank the sum of $319 and two years' interest, being the amount of a deposit standing in the Bank on the 19th day of March, 1857 to the credit of the firm of Johnson, Brown & Co. That firm being then on the verge of insolvency, the senior partner, Johnson, executed to several of the firm creditors conveyances of property to secure the debts due them, without the consent of the junior partners, Brown and Snow, who refused to join with him, but endeavored to protect other creditors by means of a general assignment, which they made to James Myers. That assignment has been set aside as void by Judge Davies in two suits tried before him, and to-day the question came up as to the validity and good faith of the conveyances made by Johnson. The defence claimed that Johnson's conveyances, under which the plaintiff claimed, were fraudulent and without any consideration. The Court charged the Jury that if Johnson acted honestly and in good faith in making the conveyances, and there was no bad faith on the part of his grantees, the plaintiff was entitled to recover, but if the transaction was fraudulent, the defendants were entitled to a verdict.

The Jury returned a verdict for the plaintiff, without leaving their seats, for the full amount claimed.

L. A. Fuller for the plaintiff; J. & J. W. C. Leveridge for the defendants.

"THE PRIDE OF YOUTH."

The New Style of Hat for the Young.

A FELT FABRIC OF SURPASSING BEAUTY!

KNOX will issue on Saturday morning a very becoming, jaunty and stylish felt hat, designed expressly for "Young America." Its beauty and durability cannot fail to excite admiration, and while inviting attention to a fabric upon which he has expended his best skill, he is constrained to say that the "Pride of Youth" is not an old production invested with a new title, but a bona fide, artistic and novel effort in his business, the success of which he is perfectly willing to leave to the judgment of the public.

He anticipates for the "Pride of Youth" an exorbitant demand, and has made his arrangements to meet it.

Parents are invited to visit KNOX's establishment, No. 212 Broadway, to inspect this article. Its "natty" appearance will lead them to the conclusion that nothing could be more appropriate for their boys, and that every lad is entitled to one who deserves the name of

"The pride of the family."

CLEANSE THE SYSTEM WITH BRANDRETH'S PILLS.—At this season of the year a general purification of the human system is vitally important. During the Winter season a vast amount of impurity gathers in the system, producing humors, lassitude, and eventuating in disease, if not removed; and as nature provides for the external purification of her dominion at this season by electricity, shower and storm, so man should watch over his own system and purify it with appropriate medicines. For this purpose we are persuaded that BRANDRETH'S Pills stand preëminent. For twenty-four years past they have been in general use throughout this country, and at the present time there is not another so popular medicine for purifying the system in use; besides which they are cheap and pleasant to taste. Sold at No. 294 Canal-street, at 25 cents a box. Sugar-coated, half-boxes, 13 cents.

WEDNESDAY, April 6—P. M.

The main feature of the Stock Exchange to-day was the continued heavy sales of New-York Central shares. The price closed yesterday afternoon, 75⅞@76. This afternoon 75⅝@75¾ ₽ cent. The intermediate sales through the day are equal to 8,000 shares. The cash price fluctuated from 75⅜ to 75⅝, and back to 75⅜, sales, and bid at the close. The sellers' options were pressed with considerable eagerness, and 75@75⅛ ₽ cent. at one time accepted in this way. The next active movement was against Michigan Guaranteed, which sold at one time yesterday as high as 41, and left off 40½; opened this morning at 39½, and after sales of 3,000 shares, closed 39¼@39½. Galena and Rock Island sold down ½@⅝ ₽ cent. each, and Cleveland and Toledo ¼ ₽ cent. Illinois Central was steady at 68½ ₽ cent. Hudson River opened steady, but gave way to 33½ ₽ cent. under sales of 700 shares, the same figure, however, being bid at the close. Harlem Preferred was steady at 40¾@41 ₽ cent. Reading not very active, but firm at the close at 50¼ ₽ cent. The course of prices in Pacific Mail, though irregular through the day, denoted considerable strength, and the final bid for the cash stock was 79¼ ₽ cent., after 78 had been accepted, seller 30 days, on the printed list. Panama was again firm at 118½ ₽ cent. Delaware and Hudson steady at 97½ ₽ cent. The general Share list left off with an improved tone, as compared with the early business of the day.

In Federal Stock there was little or nothing done. In State Stocks, Virginias, Tennessees and North Carolinas sold at the full rates of yesterday, while Missouris were ¼@⅜ lower for cash, owing to the offers made to sell the stock on sellers' option. In Railway Bonds there were sales of Illinois Free Lands at 93, and the Cumberland Bonds at 88 ₽ cent. Michigan Centrals, Hudsons and New-York Centrals were firm and in request.

In Discount rates we learn of no alteration. The business in demand loans is not large this week, the rates range to the Stock Brokers 4@5 ₽ cent. The screw-steamer Alps sails to-morrow for Liverpool. As she takes no regular European mail, there was no movement in Exchange to-day. The rates on England, banker's, are 109¾@109⅞, and Merchant bills 109⅜@109⅝. This steamer will take out $250,000 in Gold bars. The Niagara, from Boston to-day, had no specie. The Sub-Treasury received to-day, $171,440, including $106,000 from Customs, and paid out $139,255. Balance this afternoon, $7,570,384. We understand that about $2,500,000 overdue Treasury Bills, bearing from 4½@5 ₽ cent. of the issue of March, 1858, have not yet been put forward for reimbursement. The interest runs on, and the Bills are held up at Bank and in the Trust and Savings offices, as so much money loaned on demand. About the 17th or 20th May, an additional sum of $9,000,000 will fall due.

The excitement in the Cotton Trade is renewed, and 8,000 bales sold in this market to-day at very full prices; the slight decline of last week having been recovered since the later advices from England, received yesterday.

The Bank Superintendent of the State of New-York, Mr. COOK, has notified the City and Country Banks for a quarterly return of their condition as at the opening of business on Saturday, March 12, 1859.

From the following communication it will be seen that the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad Company will probably pay regular dividends hereafter in April and October. The communication is in answer to a resolution of inquiry passed by the Baltimore City Council:

BALTIMORE AND OHIO RAILROAD, }
PRESIDENT'S OFFICE, April 1, 1859. }

John W. Randolph, Esq., Chairman:

SIR: Your communication of the 16th ultimo was received during my absence from the City.

In reference to your inquiry regarding the probability of the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad Company paying a dividend in April and October of this year, and the amount of dividend that may be paid, I respectfully state that the net earnings and present financial condition of the Company will justify a dividend of 3 ₽ cent., for the fiscal half year terminating 31st ultimo, which doubtless the Board will declare at an early day.

As the Company is now free from floating debt, I see no cause, with judicious management and no extraordinary disasters, to prevent the payment of regular dividends hereafter.

Very respectfully, your obedient servant,

J. W. GARRETT, President.

TOTAL LOSS OF THE BARK VESTA.—Capt. Ballard, of the Am. ship R. B. Forbes, which arrived at Singapore, from Batavia, gives the following account of the loss of the bark Vesta, Capt. Potter, from Liverpool, bound to Singapore:

"The United States ship R. B. Forbes, James C. Ballard, master, left Batavia Jan. 15, at 6 A. M., bound to Singapore. At 11:30 on the same day, observed a strange sail on the weather bow, and bore up for it; on approaching nearer, discovered that it was a ship's boat with Europeans on board, and an English flag flying. Accordingly bore for her to come alongside, and they reported that it contained the captain (Robert Potter) and crew of the British bark Vesta, of Sunderland, 150 days from Liverpool, loaded with about 300 tons of iron and coal, and bound for Singapore. The captain stated that on the 11th, when in the Straits of Gaspee, the Vesta foundered, and he and the crew were obliged to take to the boat, and had been in it four days. The mate of the Vesta died on the 2d January."

The commander of the Vesta declined Capt. Ballard's offer of assistance, as he was within so short a distance of Batavia.

CAUTION.—TO WATCH DEALERS AND JEWELERS.—NEW-YORK, March, 1859.—I. & M T. LEVITT, London, England, and No. 19 Maiden-lane, New-York, chronometer and watch manufacturers, hereby inform the trade that certain of the plain watches and movements of their own make, bearing their names and that of Morris Tobias, No. 31 Minories, London, imported into this country previously to the establishment of their agency, No. 19 Maiden-lane, under the management of J. H. BRADBURY, have been jeweled in this City in aqua marine stones, contrary to the principles on which their fine movements and first-class watches have heretofore been constructed, such alterations being not alone injurious to the durability of the watches by reason of the softness of the aqua marines, but calculated to impair the faith of purchasers of these goods whose reliance has been uniformly placed on their quality. In order therefore that there may be no mistaking the genuine movements, purchasers will find on examination that all watches and movements finished at their manufactory in London, England, are jeweled in Rubies and Chrysolites only, and for future protection the certificate which accompanies each watch or movement will be countersigned by their sole agent, J. H. BRADBURY.

GAS CHANDELIERS, BRACKETS, HALL AND OTHER PENDANTS, &c., &c.—The subscribers, returning thanks to their friends and the public generally for the very liberal patronage heretofore bestowed on them, respectfully beg leave to say they are now fully prepared to furnish the above articles in every variety on the shortest notice and most liberal terms.
